HARVARD WINS 2; VARSITY FAVORITE

Crimson Takes Freshman and Four-Oared Events at New London—The Senior Eights Meet in Crucial Race Late This Afternoon.

NEW LONDON, Ct., July 1.—Harvard defeated Yale in both the varsity four-oared and the freshman eight-oared races on the Thames to-day. The Crimson four-oared crew won by two and one-half lengths, and the freshman crew was fifteen lengths in the lead.

The official time for the two races follows:

VARSITY FOUR.

Half-mile—Yale, 3:08; Harvard, 3:12.
Mile—Harvard, 6:23; Yale, 6:29.
Mile and a half—Harvard, 10:04; Yale, 10:09.

FRESHMAN EIGHT.

Finish—Harvard, 13:14; Yale, 13:23.

Half-mile—Harvard, 2:53; Yale, 2:37.
Mile—Harvard, 5:36; Yale, 6:20.
Mile and a half—Harvard, 8:29; Yale, 9:07.
Finish—Harvard, 11:32; Yale, 12:09.

Harvard stock went up by leaps and the Crimson cry "Harvard will sweep the river!" seemed in a fair way to be borne out when the eight oared varsity crews of Harvard and Yale meet late this afternoon in their annual two-mile race.

At the finish of the freshman race every Harvard man appeared in good shape and most of them quietly and carelessly dipped their hats in the water and splashed themselves.

Harvard rowed in perfect unison, while Yale was in a wretched form. Harvard's victory was scored amid deafening cheers.

Day Opened Fair.

As perfect a day for a boat race as ever was seen gladdened the hearts of a hundred thousand persons gathered here. "Fair" said the weather man and fair indeed it was. A balmy southwest breeze came landward from the south across the inner harbor, which was literally choked by yachts of all kinds and sizes decked from truck to keels with thousands upon thousands of myriad colored signal flags. The breeze, although sufficient to cool the air was still not so strong as to make a rough course.

It was raining, however, at the finish of the freshman race.

The varsity eight is scheduled for 6 o'clock, but it may be necessary to postpone it as there is every indication of a thunder shower.

The Yale varsity four arrived first at the starting point opposite Red Top. They came easily down the river at a paddling stroke, arriving opposite the starting boat close in by the Connecticut shore of the river at 7 bells, 10:15. Almost immediately the Harvard boat rounded a cape to the north and came into position even closer to the shore.

At 10:28 Referee Mehlehan, standing in the bow of his Regent boat, called the two crews to the line. The Harvard four looked much the bigger and stronger, and quickly showed more confidence as they paddled into position. The Yale men did considerable splashing and seemed nervous.

It was just 10:29 when Mr. Mehlehan, placing his big megaphone to his lips, shouted across the narrow space of gently rippling water:

Four-Oar Race Starts.

"Are you ready, Harvard?"

"Yes," came back the little coxswain's answer, in good, round voic.

"Are you ready, Yale?" again shouted the referee.

"No, not yet," came from the Yale boat.

"All right, called Mehlehan, and then he put the question to both crews.

"Are you both ready?" came the call once more.

There was no answer and five seconds later the starting gun rang out. The official starting time, as afterwards officially announced, was 10:32.

Every muscle was taut and every muscle strained as the frail crafts shot away from the releasing hands of the two tugs, the boats who had held them neck and neck at the starting line.

"Go, you Yale!" and "Go, you Harvard!" shouted the steersmen, and both boats were ten yards away down the river before their voices had died away.

Harvard went away with a magnificent long, steady stroke that took her long leaps through the water in veritable leaps.

At the quarter mile Yale had a small lead. Both crews were hitting up terrible pace. At the half-mile Yale was a length ahead. At the three-quarter mile Harvard came fast. At the mile mark both crews were splashing, with Yale half length in the lead.

In passing the mile, Yale was pulling 32 strokes and Harvard 34. Nearing the

100,000 PEOPLE SEE BIG BOAT RACE ON THE THAMES

NEW LONDON, July 1.—Crowds poured in all the afternoon, and it was estimated that more than 100,000 people would see the Yale-Harvard varsity boat race.

Harvard continued to rule favorite in the betting. Crimson adherents below more active after the two victories of the morning. There were indications of a storm in the afternoon, and much anxiety was felt over the weather conditions.

Late trains from Boston and New York carried enormous crowds to the scene of the race.

'FLAGSTONE' JURY FINDS MITCHELL AND MAHER GUILTY

A verdict of guilty of conspiracy to defraud the city out of over $13,000 was returned to-day against Michael J. Mitchell and Thomas F. Maher in the flagstone graft case.

The jury went out yesterday afternoon at 3 o clock and reached a verdict at 9 last night. The sealed verdict was read before Judge Sanderson when court opened at 9:30 to-day.

Mitchell was purchasing agent for the city when John F. Fitzgerald was Mayor. Maher sold the city flagstone. The feature of the trial was the testimony of Fitzgerald and the attacks made on him by District-Attorney Hill and Lawyer Coakley for Mitchell.

Mitchell in Tears.

When the verdict was read tears sprang to the eyes of Mitchell, and he dropped into a chair overcome with his emotions. He appeared to be thunderstruck at the result.

Maher took the verdict more coolly. He showed no feeling, although it was plain that he, too, was surprised. Immediately after the announcement of the verdict Lawyers Coakley and Carney conferred about bail. Judge Sanderson said that he would allow the bail to remain the same in each case, $5,000.

"I will allow you until August 1 to file exceptions," said Judge Sanderson. "I will grant no guidance on the men a week from to-morrow at 2 o'clock."

The two men, accompanied by their lawyers, left the court room. Neither Mr. Coakley nor Mr. Carney would make a statement, nor would they permit their clients to do so. District Attorney Hill also declined to comment on the case.

The maximum sentence for conspiracy is three years in the House of Correction or in the State prison.

Politicians Are Alarmed.

The court room was jammed when court opened. It had been announced in the morning papers that a verdict was reached last night and the greatest speculation was manifested as to what it could be. No intimation, so far as could be learned, had reached the two men as to the result.

Among those at the court house were many politicians. They gathered about Mitchell and Maher and did their best to cheer them up. It was apparent that the result was a distinct shock to many who gathered there. The news spread through business and political circles quickly and caused a sensation.

In his speech to the jury District Attorney Hill declared that John F. Fitzgerald, who was a witness in the case, "did not come to court to tell the truth, and he did not tell the truth."

He reply to this Mr. Fitzgerald to-day said:

"Mr. Hill descended to the level of a blackguard. He even went further. Though claiming aristocratic training and surroundings, he showed the traits of a hireling."

His speech was meant as a campaign document for me this Fall, in payment for an appointment to his present position. Protected by the robes of office, he made an attack upon my honor that he would not dare to make outside.

"If he really meant what he said he will present his evidence before the Grand Jury and ask for an indictment for perjury. I dare him to do it."

DR. ELIOT EXPLAINS HIS "BEST BOOKS"

A New York morning newspaper to-day publishes the following:

Harvard graduates in New York yesterday were amazed when they received a circular letter from a publishing house saying that the thirty-odd books named by President Eliot of Harvard, as containing the best knowledge and culture of the world, were selected at the request of the publishing house and would be released as a commercial enterprise in handsome "Harvard crimson" binding. Mr. Eliot has hitherto refused to lend his name to advertising schemes.

The reason for the omission of the Bible and Shakespeare from the list of "best books" is now explained.

Dr. Eliot's Statement.

President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard to-day told a reporter for the BOSTON AMERICAN that he had been paid for picking out the thirty books for the "five-foot shelf" to be published by a New York concern. He declared that he had personally selected the volumes.

"I selected this list of books at the request of this publishing house," said President Eliot. "It was a commercial enterprise upon their part, and I entered into it because I had another motive as well as any personal profit.

"My motive was the cause of education, I believe that all who read these books will be permanently benefited. For this work naturally I was remunerated. How much I received I don't care to make public.

A Business Proposition.

"I do not consider that my course in getting an editor could be considered as lending my name or what prestige I might have for advertising purposes as has been insinuated. It is a strict business proposition and naturally the publisher will advertise largely.

"Now in regard to the list of books: the Bible and Shakespeare were omitted from the list at the suggestion of the publisher. The reason, of course, is that most people have read the Bible and Shakespeare.

"The list was originally intended to be fifty-book list. Now any good edition of Shakespeare would take five volumes. The Bible would take three volumes, and there would be eight gone out of the fifty.

"The list of books as mentioned is very incomplete, I expect when the task is finished to issue twenty more titles. I will try to confine the list to sixty books.

"When the publisher asked me to select the books for a proposition of this kind I was glad to do it, because I felt it my name as compiler of the list induced people to read the books a great educational work would have been done. My position on this matter is thoroughly understood by all who know me."

THE WEATHER.

Local showers late this afternoon and evening. Friday, fair. Light westerly winds.

IT PAYS TO BE AN "HONEST LOBBYIST"

That honesty pays is clearly shown today in additional State House returns under the "Lobby act" in which the highest fee recorded is $2,500 to former Governor John L. Bates.

Mr. Bates and Guy A. Ham are the attorneys who were warmly defended by Mayor George A. Hibbard during the recent city charter hearings as "honest lobbyists."

Mr. Ham's fee from the city of Boston under the "Lobby act" is only $1,000, but presumably he did not do so much work for the charter as Mr. Bates.

Under the head of "other lobbyists" the leader in fees is William H. Sullivan who received a total of $1,654.63 from the Boston Beer Company, the Suffolk Brewing Company and the Boylston Brewery for services relating to liquor legislation.

Still other lobbyists were content with the following:

Bentley W. Warren, $500, from the Connecticut Valley Street Railway Company.

Barlow & Hemmins, $300, from the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters.

Peabody & Arnold, $750, from the Boston Hotel Association.

Arthur Lord, $200, from the Anti-Boycott Association.

Allen C. Butterick, $333.33, from the Red Men's Fraternal Accident Association.

NEW MYSTERY IN GRAND JURY PROBE

The grand jury resumed its secret investigations to-day with one witness before the body and a large number of others waiting to be called outside of the grand jury room in the corridors of the court house.

Much interest was manifested about the court house as to the character of the investigation being made. One of the most conspicuous of the men waiting outside of the grand jury room is William J. Hartnett.

Mr. Hartnett was indicted in 1907 for corrupting two jurors in connection with the famous Crocker will case. It became known to-day through District Attorney Hill that Hartnett pleaded guilty yesterday to the indictments.

OH, WICKED PORTSMOUTH!

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 1.—Agents of the Watch Eand Ward Society of Maine, accompanied by several ministers from that state, invaded the city to-day, and, much to the surprise of citizens, caused the arrest of two alleged poolroom proprietors, Joseph Lamb and Harry Mowe. The two men were arraigned in the Municipal Court and after a hearing decision was reserved.

FIRECRACKER WOUNDS TWO NAHANT BOYS

Eight-year-old Alfred Gouthier had the flesh stripped from the bones of his right hand and five-year-old Raymond Hanson had his left eye blown from its socket by the premature explosion of a giant cannon cracker they found in the Relay House yard at Nahant to-day.

Both lads had powder blown into their faces and hands and were made temporarily unconscious by the shock and pain. They are on the dangerous list in the Lynn City Hospital.

The frightful injuries to the little boys created much distress among the guests at the Relay House. Each boy was a ghastly sight and women shuddered and wept. The families of the boys are grief stricken.

Alfred Gouthier is the son of William Gouthier, a Lynn shoe factory employe living in a small cottage in the Relay House yard. There are several children in the Gouthier family.

Found Cannon Cracker.

Raymond Hanson is the youngest son of George Hanson, a Lynn trolley car conductor, living in a cottage next to the Gouthiers. Last night Mr. Hanson started for New Hampshire with his older son, leaving five-year-old Raymond and his mother at home.

Last night there were fireworks at the Relay House. It is thought that the cracker which exploded in the boys' faces was one which failed o explode last night and was left somewhere on the hotel premises.

Alfred and Raymond found the cracker. Too young to realize its danger, they went onto the Hanson piazza to set it off. Raymond secured a match, which he gave to Alfred, who touched off the cracker. Both boys bent over it as Alfred lit it.

At this moment Ticket Agent Harold Waitt of the Nahant trolley line, who was in the hotel, spied the lads and caught a glimpse of the cracker. Before he had time to shout to them to get away from the cracker the latter xploded with a terrific report.

When the smoke cleared away both lads were unconscious on the piazza. Mrs. Hanson, who caps out of the cottage in alarm, found Raymond's face on his back.

Wrist Badly Torn.

Alfred Gouthier's right hand was stripped of flesh as though done with a knife. The bare bones of the fingers protruded horribly from the wrist bones, while the flesh of th wrist was blackened and torn.

The lads were given temporary medical treatment till a Lynn police ambulance hurried them to the Lynn Hospital.

The lads revived consciousness before reaching the hospital. Either from sheer fright or from shock and numbness, the lads did not cry. At the hospital anaesthetics were given, and surgical treatment was begun.

The double accident has cast a damper on the holiday atmosphere at the Relay House. Both boys were bright little fellows and popular in the neighborhood.

WIRES TO TIME WRIGHT FLIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 1.—While the Wright brothers tinkered with their aeroplane at Fort Myer to-day in an effort to increase the efficiency of the motor, Lieutenants Lahm and Foulois, accompanied by a squad of signal men, strung telephone wires over the two-mile course over which the machine is to fly in one of its tests.

These wires will be used for the purpose of timing the flight of the aeroplane in its endurance test from the moment it leaves the parade ground until it returns. The only damage sustained by the machine when it dropped to the ground yesterday and would like to hear from some strong was a broken skid. This was replaced to-day and the Wright brothers and their mechanician then devoted themselves to the engine.

CAMBRIDGE HAS 2 SOLICITORS

Cambridge has two city solicitors to-day. Gilbert A. A. Perey, who has held that position for years, to-day refused to accept the appointment tendered by Mayor Seward, who was elected last Tuesday night by the City Government, to take the office.

Perey claims that when President Morland of the Co mmon Council and his supporters marched out of the chamber on Tuesday night the nine Democrats and three non-partisans left the chamber and Aldermen were not a "legal council."

Perey refused to accept the office to-day and offered to submit the case to the council again or take the matter to the Superior Court. As the councils have adjourned for the Summer this latter course will likely be pursued.

SAVED FROM DROWNING IN 5-HOUR FIGHT

Exhausted from clinging for five hours to an overturned sailboat in Dorchester Bay, D. J. Swanton and Thomas Ross were rescued early to-day by William Darrell and Alex. Gurney, who were awakened by their cries for help.

Swanton and Ross were so weak that Swanton fainted when he was rescued and Ross was not much better off. Darrell, who is an Englishman and a graduate of St. John's Ambulance, a nurses' training school in London, applied restoratives and brought them around in good shape.

Swanton is twenty-six years old and lives at No. 38 Belden street, Dorchester. Ross is twenty-eight and lives at No. 238 Savin Hill avenue, Dorchester.

They started for a sail in Dorchester Bay at 11 o'clock last night, using a beg-of-mutton sail in their sixteen-foot dory. One-half mile southwest of Thompsom's Island in the bay the dory capsized.

Ross, who can swim, could have made his way to shore, but stayed by to help Swanton up on the capsized yawl. There both men clung through the night. They yelled at intervals for help, and this finally brought them aid at 4:45 a. m.

William Barnes, a contractor of No. 61½ Bartlett street, Roxbury, is tenting at Squantum with his family. He was awakened by the cries of Ross and Swanton coming across the water. He dressed and paused. Alex Courtney of South Boston, who was tenting a few yards away. Together in a dory and rowed quickly to Ross and Swanton, who were so weak by this time that they could hardly keep hold of their overturned craft.

MESSINA IS SHAKEN BY NEW QUAKE

MESSINA, July 1.—Earth shocks both here and at Reggio at 7:20 a. m. created a great panic among the people of these two cities.

The walls of houses that were not completely demolished in the visitation of last December, were shaken down, and the inhabitants rushed from the streets towards the open country.

A woman and a child were caught under the wreckage and sustained serious injury, of which the woman subsequently died.

The earth shocks have been becoming more intense recently and last night they were sufficiently severe to cause alarm. The shocks of this morning were undulating and vertical and accompanied by deep roaring sounds.

The first one was followed by an explosion like the roar of cannon, and lasted between eight and ten seconds, which seemed an eternity to the terrified population.

It is said that this quake was of greater severity than the fatal one of the night of December 28.

The wooden houses and huts erected for the accommodation of the people seemed to be thrown from one side to another The people fled in terror.

As on the night of December 28, the first shock was followed by a circular movement of the ground.

Five minutes later there came another quake, accompanied by further roaring sounds. This completed the destructions.

The remains of the devastated houses collapsed, and the entire district was covered by a dense cloud of dust.

COLLIER ASHORE ON BRENTON REEF

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1.—The naval collier Nero, with Captain Kenney and a crew of three, went ashore in the fog to-day, and is now lodged on the west side of Brenton Reef Shoals. The Nero had just discharged 3,500 tons of coal at the Bradford station and was returning light.

CRIMSON CREWS HANDILY WIN THE FIRST TWO RACES

The unofficial time was Harvard, 12:32; Yale, 12:42.

Freshman Race Easy.

In the freshman race Yale caught the water first. Both went off with a quick, dashing stroke. In the first 100 yards Yale pulled forty strokes to the minute and kept slightly ahead of Harvard. At the end of twenty yards Harvard was leading. Approaching the half-mile Yale got off her course slightly, and Harvard pulled still farther ahead. Time at the half—2:42.

After getting by the half-mile flag Harvard drew still further away and pulled a high dashing stroke which dropped Yale continually. At the three-quarters Harvard seemed to have a lead of more than three lengths.

At the mile Harvard was leading by nearly four lengths, having covered the distance in 5:21 unofficial. Both crews were rowing steadily without any splashing. Coming to the mile and half flag Harvard's lead seemed to be increasing, and she finished handily.

With the betting 5 to 4 in favor of Harvard and plenty of money in sight everyone is on the tiptoe for the Harvard-Yale varsity race on the Thames river to-day.

"Harvard will sweep the river," was the cry of the Crimson army, and the expert oarsmen who have followed the work of the two crews at Red Top and Gales Ferry echo the chorus.

To-day Harvard is drunk with joy over the prospects of beating Yale on the river twice within undergraduate memory. Recognized athletic ascendancy in any sport is so rare an honor for Harvard in her recent history that it is no wonder that her sons are hilarious to-day. Her football team has been harassed by the faculty and demolished by Yale. She has been crushed on the track. But at last, in at least one sport, the college has come into her own again and to-day she has the honor of seeing more Harvard than Yale money in sight to beat Yale "varsity eight in the race down the Thames this evening.

"The best crew Yale ever had," was the way Coach Kennedy summed things up at the Yale camp.

"It's a Harvard year," was the keynote comment of Coach Wray, who has labored so hard for "Johnny" Harvard.

Harvard Wins Tosses.

When it came to the toss for position on the course Harvard won the position in each of the day's three races. She chose the west course, nearest the track of the Vermont Central Railroad.

Some veterans shook their heads at this side of the Thames; but Harvard's coach and adviser only smiled and said, with cheerfulness. They remembered that they had made the same choice a year ago when Yale was given one of the most decisive defeats in her whole marine history.

From East and West and from the North ireland poured Harvard into this quiet old New England town to-day. The sweet cries and fierce battle affections everywhere, but outside the flotilla, which was headed by no less a craft than Sweep Henson and flagship Olympia, which was arrayed like a rainbow, there were only Crimson. When in doubt, red is wise. It was a close fight between these two, with the balance seeming to have a little the advantage, which was proper, as the home team in Yale's own pond.

A favorite method of the Harvard girl in displaying the warm affections leaned was to stick a flaming red feather in her straw hat.

Many a quiet and dignified Massachusetts youth suffered martyrdom for the cause when Harvard's men won to-day. Rice and red flags could be purchased at prices ranging from 5 cents to $5.

To Be Smashing Race.

A fine bit of color was added to the whole delightful scene by the representatives of Uncle Sam's navy, officers and men from the four cutters assigned to police the course and from the other war vessels in these waters.

As Coaches Wray and Kennedy have planned it, the event of to-day will be a gruelling, smashing contest. The pace will be a killing one from the start, "and the fittest shall survive."

As for the young giants who are the motive power in the shells, the lay onlooker can see but slight difference between each eight.

In spite of the terrifically hot weather of the last week, which made training a hardship, every man of the sixteen looks like a gladiator. If the encouragement of the wearers of the Crimson and the Blue could decide the race it will be a dead heat, for Yale men on the scene and in this city are quite as certain in their the race will go to Yale as are the Harvard men that the Crimson will be the color of victory to-night.

Yale men have been as numerous here as have Harvard men, because of the coincidence of the Yale commencement with President Taft in attendance, with the final preparations for the race. Not Yale has never been anything but true to her own, and when Yale men came they wore a look of grim confidence and all ready to endorse their confidence with offers in large denominations.

The yearly event of '09 is to be historic. Four times heretofore since Harvard took on a professional coach have crews from Yale and Harvard contested on the Thames, and twice has each returned victorious. Thus the fifth race is considered as decisive.

"Harvard Boys Ready for Keen Battle," Says Capt. Cutler

BY CAPTAIN ELIOT CUTLER OF HARVARD.

"We hope to add another victory for Harvard by capturing the big varsity race. We all realize that the Elis are most worthy rivals and believe that the race will be a keen struggle throughout. Every man in the shell is prepared for a gruelling contest and determined to lead our rivals at the finish line, even if it is necessary to establish a new record for up the stream course."

HUSBAND PAYS COSTS OF SUIT

By an order handed down to-day by the Superior Court at East Cambridge, Joseph S. Higgins, a wealthy Melrose horse dealer, who sued Solomon Shute, an Everett real estate man for $15,000 for alleged alienation of his wife's affections last October and did not appear when the case was called, is directed to pay $18.48, the costs in the case. The suit was called at the last session, but Higgins failed to appear.

A great sensation was caused last October when it became known that Joseph E. Higgins, who lives on Swaine's pond avenue, Melrose, had brought suit for alleged alienation of affections against Solomon Shute, a wealthy Everett bachelor. The suit was brought through Attorney Henry A. Ryan of Boston.

Mrs. Higgins was a schoolgirl twelve years ago, when her husband, then fourteen, fell in love with her and married her. This was fourteen years ago. Higgins went into the horse business and became wealthy.

He is the father of five handsome children.

"It seemed that our life was one long dream until Shute stepped in," said Mr. Higgins when the suit was filed. "We were the happiest couple in all Boston until the world's fair. Then I was sent together to Boston one night. I planned with my wife not to break up our home, and then I brought this suit. My wife will live in the home, but it is a house divided against itself."

FINDS HUSBAND LOST 45 YEARS

PITTSFIELD, July 1.—George Hecox of Lee and his wife are to-day receiving congratulations of their friends because after having been lost to each other for forty-five years they are now reunited.

In the time Hecox and his wife were not living together the woman thought him dead and married Timothy Tucker who died two years ago.

Two months ago and more George Hecox married pretty Mary Canfield of Lenox. They recently visited Lee where George worked with his father and three brothers as a woodsman. The name the Civil War and the Hecox rather and four sons were to Lee and Tucker's home. For some reason he refuses to divulge, never returned for years.

He was supposed to be among the thousands of missing at Andersonville. Yesterday herself a widow was married to Tucker. Years later Hecox chose Sundan. He found his wife happily married and, confiding to a brother, he effaced himself until two years after Tucker died.

Yesterday a white haired man knocked at the door of the Tucker home. "Does Mrs. Tucker live here?" he asked. "Yes," said the woman, "I'm Mrs. Tucker."

"Well, Mary, I have come home at last," said the man. The woman gasped with surprise and then with a faint scream flung herself into the man's arms. Husband she had not seen for over a generation.

BIG CHEMICAL PLANT ABLAZE

NEW YORK, July 1.—A menacing fire started early to-day on the top floor of the four-story building at No. 82 John street. The blaze started in the laboratory of the Western Chemical Company after an explosion of chemicals, which shook the building to the cellar.

Adjoining is the Woodbridge building, an eighteen-story structure holding about 3,000 people, among them hundreds of women. This building was quickly emptied, many of the occupants being panic stricken. The employees of the Western Chemical Company all got safely to the street.

Two alarms were sent in immediately and the firemen were compelled to wage their fight against the flames at long distance for fear of exploding retorts and vats of gases and chemicals.

10,000 MEN OUT IN STEEL TRUST STRIKE

PITTSBURG, July 1.—More than 10,000 skilled workers in the employ of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company, a subsidiary of the billion-dollar steel trust, went on strike immediately after midnight this morning as a protest against the trust's effort to smash the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers by an open shop policy affecting to-day.

A majority of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company's plants in Pittsburg are non-union and the trouble will not affect here.

Wheeling, W. Va., Newcastle, Sharon and Connellsville, Pa.; Martin's Ferry, Bridgeport and Cambridge, O.; and Elwood, Anderson, Gas City and Muncie, Ind., are the points involved.

President P. J. Mcardle of the union said that the strike would affect about 15,000 workers, and probably 20,000 before it is ended. He declared there was no justification for the stand taken by the trust, as the union had always granted what it demanded.

When the trust wanted to export tin plate the union agreed to accept a reduction of 3 per cent. on all exported plate, although the organization already had a scale of wages signed for the year.

In this, and in many other ways, he said the union had given in to the trust, so that it could establish the industry where as if the union had fought for its rights the corporation would not now have the market so well in hand.

STEAMER HELD AS FILIBUSTER

NEW YORK, July 1.—The Ethelwood, a small steamer lying at the south of Brooklyn water front, was held up by United States customs officers on suspicion that she was about to engage in a filibustering expedition against the West Indian republic of Santo Domingo.

The order to detain the steamer was received from Assistant Secretary McIlarg of the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington, and was promptly executed by William Loeb, collector of the port of New York.

The Washington advices said that M. Sannon, Minister from Hayti, had complained to the State Department that the British steamship Ethelwood was believed to have been engaged by Jose St. Pierre Gilordiani and General Juan Jimenez, San Domingoans, to aid in a filibustering expedition.

"Yes," one of the custom officers said, "the crew of a dozen or fifteen men were aboard when we arrived. Most of them were English sailors, and had been shipped but a few days ago. Of course they would not have been aboard with steam up unless the boat was about to sail.

"None of them appear to know much about the cargo, and those we have seen it said it was all in tin cans. We have not been authorised to make any inspection."

TOBACCO UPHELD BY PRESBYTERY

BROOKLYN, July 1.—Although total abstinence from alcoholic drinks was sustained, the Brooklyn Presbytery defeated an effort to put tobacco on the list of harmful indulgences. When the question was put one man ironically suggested that tea, coffee, ice cream soda and chewing gum also be put under the ban.

PASTOR WOULD GOLF OIL KING

CLEVELAND, O., July 1.—The arrival of John D. Rockefeller was anxiously awaited by the Rev. W. W. Bustard, formerly of Boston, now pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, the oil king's place of worship. Dr. Bustard wants to play golf with Mr. Rockefeller.

"I have never met Mr. Rockefeller," said Dr. Bustard to-day. "I would like to play golf with him, for I like the game. If he asks me I shall play with him; if he doesn't ask, I shall play with someone else."

Which shows the independence of Dr. Bustard. Today he declared he was for right, whether people liked it or not.

"I believe the young man to-day wants straight gospel. He doesn't want a trimmer, a dodger of a time-server. Straight doctrine may not be comfortable, but I believe the young men respect the man who hits hard when he hits," he continued.

"The way to get people to come to church is to make the service attractive. I never have two evenings exactly alike. The sermons are on social, political or any subjects that interest the people on other days as well as on Sunday. For I believe in an applied gospel. And I get good music.

"When I'm in the pulpit I want just three things, with me," he explained. "The flag beside me, the Bible in front of me, and the spirit of God upon me."

TAFT RETURNS TO CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 1.—President Taft returned from New Haven shortly after 10 o'clock. With Mrs. Taft and their son Charles he will leave here Saturday afternoon for their Summer home at Beverly, Mass. Helen Taft left here this morning for New York, where she will be met by Henry Taft, her uncle, and his family, who will join Miss Wetherbee and Miss Wetherbee. They will proceed to Lake Champlain Saturday, where Mr. Wetherbee has a large houseboat and where the tercentenary of the discovery of Lake Champlain is to be celebrated July 5th and 6th. Charles Taft will join the party there, and his brother Robert will also go.

MRS. MACKAY BRINGS GOWNS WORTH $15,000 FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

Mrs. Clarence Mackay and her Daughter.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, when she returned from abroad with her husband and daughter, declared $15,000 worth of imported gowns. These were costumes for the Summer and Fall season, and indicate that Mrs. Mackay's dressmaker's bills run well over $30,000 for twelve months. Not since the panic of 1907 has a society woman brought into the country so many expensive gowns.

All questions on the subject of dress and all others concerning her investigations into suffragism while abroad were tactfully turned aside by the wife of the cable chief.

She met reporters in her stateroom at Quarantine, in a very becoming white linen gown and hat, and with a radiant smile turned all the newsgatherers over to her husband.

"Honestly," he said, "if I knew anything at all I would tell. But I have avoided knowing things on my vacation as far as possible. As to woman's suffrage, that is something you must ask Mrs. Mackay about."

WHO WILL BE NEXT MAYOR OF BOSTON?

Several letters have come to the AMERICAN from readers of this newspaper giving their views on the Mayoralty situation.

Stephen O'Meara Named.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Your editorial in the AMERICAN was, I think, worthy of the attention and consideration of every Bostonian. Your contention that the next Mayor of Boston must be a strong man, strong politically, is ably put.

In politics I have always been independent, ever looking for the best man regardless of his political faith. We have many men who are fully capable of giving Boston a first-class administration. Among them I present Stephen O'Meara, the man of men, who would give us what we long have wanted in this city.

Thanking you for the privilege of presenting his name as a standard bearer for Mayor of Boston.

F. W. REVERE.

No. 78 Clarendon street.

Thinks J. J. Storrow the Man.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

In answer to your editorial of who is the best man for next Mayor of Boston, J. J. Storrow is the man who in my opinion has all these good qualities which you mention in your editorial.

H. ALMAN, Jr.

McEttrick Championed.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Hon. Michael J. McEttrick of Ward 17, Roxbury, is the personification of what your editorial, captioned "The Next Mayor of Boston," calls for. He is free from party affiliations.

His past record demonstrates that he is no "political hack," but, on the contrary, has shown himself to be a true representative of the people in every way, shape and manner. The people confided in him for years and will to-day.

Mr. McEttrick won his spurs in the Massachusetts Legislature and landed a seat in the Congress of the United States. His record in Congress shows that he was on the side of the people and free from the stain of the slimy hand of corporation puppets. His whole political career, comparatively speaking, is on a par with Saul among the Israelites—head and shoulders above all the rest. His life and life's work identify him in sympathy and interest with the great masses of the people.

As Mayor of Boston McEttrick would be courageous in conducting the city's business. He is honest personally and politically.

His integrity has never been questioned. No "dancing" Councilor could dictate his policy in the Mayor's chair.

In the opinion of the citizens of Roxbury, McEttrick is the man of the hour for Mayor. The finger of fate is pointed at him and says: "Thou art the man to supplant Hibbard."

SUBMARINE FLEET REACHES NEWPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1.—The Atlantic submarine fleet, commanded by Commander George W. Kline, arrived here from New York, accompanied by the parent ship, the converted Castine. The fifteen subs are on their way to Provincetown for manoeuvres and target practice. The submarines which are here are the Viper, Cuttlefish, Tarantula and Octopus.

GIRLS TO GET HOME ARTS IN IASIGI SCHOOL

LENOX, July 1.—Inspired by the success of her manual training school for boys, and by the urgings of her daughter Nora, Mrs. Oscar Iasigi has decided to open a similar school for the girls of this district.

The school for girls, which will be the first of its kind, will afford instruction in home arts for young women during the Summer months. It is located in the Williams Academy buildings, and its operation will be the cause of considerable expense, but this will cheerfully be met by Mrs. Iasigi.

Already every work table has been applied for and there are dozens of girl applicants for whom as yet there are no facilities.

Mrs. Iasigi hopes to find room for all who apply. If necessary a branch of the girls' school will be established.

Not a few boys who have been taught in the Iasigi school are already making appreciable earnings in carpentry, cobbling, sewing and basket making. Even if the girls do not commercialize their instruction, it is Mrs. Iasigi's belief that they will make excellent use of it in their own homes.

The opening of the schools for this season will be the occasion of exercises which will be attended by many members of the Summer colony in the Berkshires, of which Mrs. Iasigi is a prominent and active believer of Mrs. Iasigi and her daughter.

WELLMAN AGAIN BOUND FOR POLE

TROMSOE, Norway, July 1.—Walter Wellman and the other members of the expedition that is planning to reach the North Pole this Summer by airship, left here to-day on the steamer Arctic with a large quantity of material for the rebuilding of the balloon shed at Spitzenbergen that was destroyed last Winter by a storm.

BOLT TATTOOS TREE ON ARM OF WOMAN

METUCHEN, N. J., July 1.—During a thunder storm a tree at the home of Benjamin J. Mayo was struck by lightning. Mrs. Mayo, who was of a well near the tree, was stunned and it was found that a figure of the tree was burned on her arm.

GIRL DRIVEN TO CONVENT BY SUITORS

To escape three suitors, Miss Loretta Lorey, the pretty nineteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Lorey of No. 43 Pollen street, Back Bay, is to enter a convent the last of this month.

Rather than choose among the three men who seek her hand, the attractive Back Bay girl is to give up worldly things forever.

She has determined that she will not afford any two of the three by accepting the third.

It had been known by many for some time that Miss Lorey was receiving attention from Back Bay suitors and it had also been rumored that she was engaged to marry a prominent Harvard man, but the idea of this bright and merry little miss seeking seclusion from the world in a convent came as a shock to her friends, in spite of the fact that Miss Lorey had not attended any social events for the past two weeks.

When the news became known many called the Lorey home to ascertain the true state of affairs, but in each instance both the young woman and her mother begged to be excused. Miss Lorey did admit that she was to enter the convent and further that it was because she did not wish to choose between her three suitors. Other than that she refused point blank to discuss the case. Her mother was equally reticent.

Just who the three men involved are it was impossible to learn, although it is strongly intimated a prominent State street broker is among the trio.

In speaking of the affair Mrs. Lorey, the girl's mother, said: "Loretta likes all three of these men, they are all splendid fellows and she does not wish to choose between them. She isn't the same little girl she formerly was and she is determined to enter the convent. No, never mind where it is, that's not necessary. I have argued with her and tried to persuade her to give up this going away from the world forever, but she is determined."

MYSTERY IN MAN'S DEATH IN SOUTH END

The many suspicious circumstances under which an unknown man, who was found on the railroad tracks of the Boston & Albany in the South End, early to-day, met his dead have led the police to start a rigid investigation, as the man might have been killed in four different ways.

Harry Lee, of No. 9 School street, Brighton, and Patrolman George A. De Lesley of the Lagrange street station, found the man lying unconscious on Track No. 4 of the Boston & Albany road, under the Shawmut avenue bridge, suffering with a fractured skull and a crushed right foot.

He was rushed to the City Hospital in the police ambulance of station 4, but died without recovering consciousness.

There is a suspicion the man was attacked while crossing the bridge and thrown to the tracks below. He may have committed suicide by jumping from the bridge in the path of a train, fallen from the bridge, or perhaps was walking along the tracks and was hit by a train. It is the first of these four to which the police are giving most of their attention.

The body now lies in the City Hospital Morgue awaiting a claimant and is described as follows: Five feet 6 inches, twenty-seven years old, 125 pounds, smooth face, dark complexion and hair, blue serge suit and golf cap, soft black shirt with white stripe and black lace shoes.

Associate Medical Examiner Leary performs an autopsy to-day.

SWITCH TRAIN HITS ELECTRIC

Thirteen persons on an electric car were more or less shaken up and bruised when a slowly-moving switching train of freight cars struck it at the Grand Junction railroad crossing on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. The train had run over the crossing to clear a switch point, and the highway crossing gates had been raised. The motorman of the car, not knowing that the train was to back up, started his car, and had got squarely on the track when the car was struck. Herbert Fuller, a shipping clerk for the Larkin company, had his back severely wrenched. The other passengers, one of them a woman, sustained a shaking up from the impact.

LIGHT TENDED 53 YEARS BY LONE WOMAN

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1.—Miss Ida Lewis, the "Grace Darling of America," who is known all over the country and who has saved more lives than any other woman in America, to-day marked her fifty-third year as keeper of the Lime Rock Lighthouse. She is now sixty-nine years old and every year of her life in charge of the lighthouse has been marked by some deed of heroism. Various humane and life-saving societies have given her medals. Miss Lewis is rarely seen in this city, except when she comes marketing or to the Thames Street Methodist Church.

The lighthouse is practically the only home she ever knew. Miss Lewis was born here. For many years her father tended the light, which at first was merely a beacon. When his health failed she took up the task as a girl, rowing from the city to the rock, on which the light is. In this way her skill in rowing became known. In 1858 the government established a lighthouse on Lime Rocks and the Lewis family took possession.

One of the most notable rescues made by Miss Lewis was in the Winter of 1866, when there were many wrecks. One night a party of troopers from Fort Adams were returning from Newport in a skiff, when they were capsized. Miss Lewis heard their cries and in her boat she rowed out to the half-drowned soldiers and brought them safely to the lighthouse. For that act she received the praise of General Hunt of the military post, and the soldiery gave her a purse. The Legislature passed a resolution of thanks and later the Secretary of the Treasury called in person and thanked her in the name of the United States.

In that same year Miss Lewis was honored by a procession in this city, in which the leading officials took part. In the line was Ida Lewis, sitting in her boat, which was on wheels and drawn by thirty prominent citizens.

JUDGE ADVISES WIFE TO THRASH HUSBAND

DUPONT, Pa., July 1.—Mrs. Michael Promich was remanded to Alderman Donohoe that her five-foot husband ill-treated her after failing to get the money for which he married her.

"If he abuses you again give him a good thrashing," advised the court. Mrs. Promich, who is six feet, said she would.

PRETTY WIFE OF TEACHER DISAPPEARS

C. Kroonbergh, a teacher of languages in Swampscott, has appealed to the BOSTON AMERICAN to aid him in locating his pretty brown-eyed Spanish wife, who left her home two days ago.

The couple, who were married after a romantic courtship in Spain and in Cuba, five years ago, have always lived happily together. Two weeks ago they returned to Boston after an extended pleasure trip through Europe.

Tuesday evening, upon returning to his home, Mr. Kroonbergh found the doors barred and the lights out. In the parlor he found a note written in Spanish, which said: "I am going away. You know why. Please do not look for me."

"I am utterly at a loss to explain Rosario's peculiar message in Spanish or to account for her disappearance," said Mr. Kroonbergh.

"We lived happily together, and loved each other dearly. I am utterly at a loss to explain why my wife has gone, and I appeal to the readers of the AMERICAN all over the country to help me find my wife. She is twenty-three years old, five feet five inches in height, has dark brown eyes, dark, wavy hair, and a rosy complexion. After asking the AMERICAN to help me, I do not feel it necessary to ask the police to search for Rosario.

"I am heartbroken, and I do not know what I shall do unless she returns."

RAISE IN PAY FOR 1,000 MEN

EASTON, July 1.—The Alpha Portland Cement Company to-day announced a 10 per cent. increase in the wages of the laboring men at the various plants of the concern, which offers about 1,000 men. The company says the condition of trade does not warrant the increase, but the additional pay is granted i nconsideration of the high cost of living. The order goes into effect to-morrow.

STAMFORD, Ct., July 1.—Frightened by a firecracker, a horse driven by Fred C. Hexamer ran through an open door into the store of Fred C. Parsons. Dodging between rows of bicycles and sewing machines, it passed out of the rear of the store without doing any damage.

HAMMERSTEIN SECURES NEW MARY GARDEN

NEW YORK, July 1.—Oscar Hammerstein to-day made known his plans for the operatic season at the Manhattan Opera House, giving for the first time the names of the new singers and new operas he has secured during his long sojourn abroad.

Besides the Winter season of grand opera, and "the educational session" of popular priced opera at the Manhattan from August 30 to November 13, the impresario announces a new organization with which he intends to give opera comique and operettas.

For grand opera in French and Italian Mr. Hammerstein has a list of artists numbers seven-eighths for first parts, and about fifty for second parts.

One of the most important singers secured is Mlle. Alice Baron. She is considered a rival to Mary Garden. She made a great reputation in Paris in such operas as "Faust," "La Traca," "Carmelite," "La Navarraise," "Adriane," "Herodite," "Louise" and a dozen others.

Mr. Hammerstein says he ransacked Europe for the singers who will make their debut at the Manhattan in his educational opera. Among them are Marguerite Sylva, of this city, but who has been singing abroad for several years; Frederick De Cerna, a famous tenor; Mirsuda, a coloratural singer, and Mme. Valdarez, a contralto.

McCormick, De Barnardi, Duffault, Madena and Pirlaeci are the new tenors who appear in Mr. Hammerstein's roster for the regular season, in addition to the old favorites.

"The new operas which I will present during the season will be 'Elektra' (Strauss), 'Feuersnoth' (Strauss), 'Herodiade' (Mascagni), 'Griselidis,' 'Monna Vanna,' 'Sapho,' 'Thais,' 'The Visionaries' of Cremona,' 'Aphrodite,' 'The Daughter of Zaza' (Leon Cavallo), 'The Daughter of the Regiment' and Victor Herbert's new opera 'Natoma' book by J. D. Redding."

The latter is now in the last stages of completion and is scheduled for production in January.

BIG MINSTREL FEATURES AT WONDERLAND

The "Girl Minstrels" at Wonderland are a pronounced success, judging from the attendance and favorable comment heard. Next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN will give free admission to this show.

Several specialty numbers will be introduced. One of the these will be a special dance by a quartette of young girls, including Charlotte Walters, Mazie Elliot, Queenie Elliot and Belle Crawford.

Lucy Kitty Bingham is the interlocutor, while the "Bones" and "Tambos" are entrusted to the Misses Pauline Carr, Fannie Weston, Olivia Chester and Catherine Fridy. Among the clever singing and dancing girls are the Misses Hazel Hingham, Grace Melrose, Edith Edmonds, Annette Fern, Daisy Whitters, Florence Parker, Mabel Kimball, Rita Stanwood and Cora Cunningham.

They are all beautifully costumed and overflowing with the enthusiasm of youth. They promise to make a decided hit among the many park attractions.

Next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN will publish Wonderland tickets to be used on Tuesday or Wednesday. The two free tickets will be for park admission and to the "Girl Minstrels." The other tickets will be for the ballroom, Hell Gate, chutes, Trophet and Princess, Golden Greece and vaudeville, at the rate of a ticket and five cents for descent admission and six tickets for five-cent attractions at the rate of two admissions for a nickel and a coupon.

SON OF MILLIONAIRE ACCUSED OF THEFT

PITTSBURG, July 1.—James Young, alias William George, said by Immigration Inspector W. W. Sibray to be the son of a millionaire brewer of Belfast, Ire., was arrested by Sibray at Pitcairn, near here, on a technical charge of entering the United States as a native born American.

Behind this charge, according to the evidence in the hands of Immigration officer, there is a more serious offence of robbing his three-weeks' bride of a large sum of money and valuable jewels, after which he deserted her on board a train in this country.

Young arrived in Boston early in May and since that time, under instructions from I. Ormsby McHarg, assistant secretary of commerce and labor, Government officials have been on his track. About ten days ago he was arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., East End, this city, but escaped by jumping from a window.

BIG FIRE SHOW FOR SHOE AND LEATHER FAIR

The thousands who cross the West Boston and Harvard Bridges and pass along the boulevards of the Charles River basin will witness to-night at 8 o'clock one of the most elaborate and magnificent displays of fireworks ever set off in Greater Boston. The display will signalize the opening of the Star World's Shoe and Leather Fair, an enterprise which has attracted the attention of all shoe and leather men on the American continent, 15,000 of whom will be in Boston for the fair.

Not only will the fireworks display of this evening be magnificent, but the electrical illumination of the Shoe and Leather Building will surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in connection with any building, private or public. The spectacle, both from the water and from the shore, will be one long to be remembered by those who witness it.

After three years of unremitting effort toward bringing to practical realization the most original and comprehensive scheme of exposition under one roof, of the product of a single trade, President Orrin McCormick, the father of the exhibition, will himself throw open the doors and admit the public to the interior of the largest auditorium in New England.

By his side as he informally opens the fair President McCormick will have the Mayors of Lynn, Brockton, Haverhill, Cambridge and Boston, as well as officials from other shoe towns in the State.

Stewart's Band of seventy pieces, stationed in the center of the grand rotunda, will begin a concert which will delight all lovers of music within sound of the instruments. Leader Stewart had charge of the music at the St. Louis World's Fair.

The inside of the building as it will appear to-night with the many thousands of incandescent lights turned on will present a gorgeous picture.

The great concert hall under the main dome has been designed after the model of Albert Hall in London, recognized as one of the most perfect music halls in the world. Indeed, competent critics who have already tested the hall pronounce its acoustics to be not even second to the famous Tabernacle at Salt Lake City.

The arrangements for seating the audience are admirable. In addition to spacious corridors and ample exits from every section of the galleries there are promenades, lunch rooms and restaurants within a few feet of the galleries on either side.

NO NEW CARDINALS TILL GIBBONS DIES

NEW YORK, July 1.—It was stated today on authority which purported to emanate from Rome that Archbishop Farley would not be given the red hat of the cardinalate until Cardinal Gibbons's death. It was said that the Pope had no intention of having more than one cardinal in America. This information was brought by the Rev. Father W. J. White, pastor of the Church of the Visitation in Brooklyn, who arrived to-day on the steamer Principe Campania. He said that the information had been given him on the best of authority in Rome.

LABOR TO AID HOME FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Organized labor in Boston has started to add to the fund of the Free Home for Consumptives on Quincy street, Dorchester. The matter has now been taken up by the Cigarmakers' union 97 and a donation of $10 made for the home. Boston Typographical Union No. 13 donated $15 to the cause at its meeting Sunday.

FINED FOR POOR MILK.

John R. McKenzie, a storekeeper at No. 1,200 Cambridge street, Cambridge, sold a 820 fine in the Third District Court before Judge Alen for selling milk which Dr. E. S. Sparrow, an inspector, found was not up to the standard.

2 BIG ROADS OCCUPY NEW OFFICE SUITE

To-day the traffic departments, passenger and freight, of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and the Great Northern Railroads, occupy their new Boston quarters at No. 264 Washington street, equipped as never before to provide the traveling public with the quickest and most comfortable transportation to the Orient, the Alaska-Yukon Klondike, Colorado, California and all points in the Great Northwest.

These lines run personally conducted tours and excursions, with through cars from Chicago to Seattle without change. They also ticket through via Seattle for Yokohama, Hongkong and the Philippines. It is their particular pride that once a week they send a conductor from Boston through to the Coast. Little six-year-old Palma Guglielmino, a victim of the Messina earthquake, yesterday was placed in the care of a conductor in Boston who will personally deliver the child into the hands of her nearest relatives in San Francisco.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Great Northern railroads, at their new office, are quoting some very interesting rates. Among their transportation facilities are three through trains daily from Chicago to Seattle, two through trains daily from St. Louis to Seattle, three through trains daily from Chicago to Colorado and two through trains daily from St. Louis to Colorado. All points in the Northwest, Alaska, Japan and the Orient are reached by their joint service, and all inquiries and inquirers will be welcomed at the new Washington street office.

The Boston office of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and of the Great Northern railroads employs a force of fifteen, not numbering some of the most experienced transportation agents in the country, including W. J. O'Meara, general Eastern passenger agent; William Garry, general New England freight agent; Alex Stocks, city passenger and ticket agent, all of the Burlington road. For the Great Northern are William A. Seward, general passenger and freight agent, and George French, city passenger and ticket agent.

The uptown office of the BOSTON AMERICAN for classified advertisements is still maintained at No. 264 Washington street, the BOSTON AMERICAN sharing the large office with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and Great Northern railroads.

50-POUND CORAL DUG UP BY TRAWL

It isn't often that real coral is dug up by a fishermen's trawl. But the schooner Kineo, though seven years old, on her first trip to Boston, brought in a huge piece that was "caught" down on Georges some days ago. The coral, which was of the white variety, was attached to a big stone and the whole thing was stuck on a halibut hook. Instead of a big fish, when they hauled in the trawl, Captain Stream and his men discovered the coral, which tips the scales at about fifty pounds.

GO AHEAD; NO CRIME TO STEAL TROUSERS

ATLANTIC CITY, July 1.—Recorder Keffer decided to-day that pilfering white flannel trousers in the hot weather is no crime. The only penalty imposed on James Richardson, a young Philadelphian, who took the trousers from a tailor shop on Atlantic avenue, was to return the flannels, which he had not yet donned. "I don't believe they would have fitted me anyhow," said the philosophical visitor, who was warned not to allow his desire for fancy clothes to lead him to steal again.

BINGHAM DEFIES MAYOR M'CLELLAN

NEW YORK, July 1.—Police Commissioner Bingham, after an all-night conference with Deputy Commissioners Woods, Hanson and Bugher, and his secretary, Daniel Slattery, decided, it was announced to-day, to defy the Mayor's order in the Duffy case to dismiss Slattery and Deputy Hanson, and thus force the Mayor to remove them.

CAST WEAPONS INTO LAKE.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Five hundred and eighty-one deadly weapons, which the police confiscated in the last six months, have been cast into the lake. The city tug took the custodian beyond the three-mile limit, and he dropped overboard the revolvers, dirks, slungshots, knives and other deadly weapons in thirty feet of water, as prescribed by the city code.

BOY AND GIRL SCHOOLMATES, MAN AND WIFE

A wedding in which a sixteen-year-old girl and an eighteen-year-old boy, both students in Somerville schools, eloped and were married, at a time when she was believed to be at a social affair, has just been revealed, much to the surprise of the mother of the girl, who is now at home with her parents.

On June 17 W. Gordon Penny, Pearson road, and Margaret J. H. Tyson of No. 48 Morrison avenue went to Nashua, N. H., were married and returned on the same day without telling anyone of their affair. The news of the wedding became known when a reporter for the AMERICAN went to the Tyson home to see the young Mrs. Penny about the elopement. Thus it became known for the first time to the mother.

Mrs. Penny was a pupil at the Brown school in Willow avenue and her young husband has just finished his second year at the Somerville Latin school.

Another June wedding was that of Harold Bisbee and Miss Margaret V. Strong, at the home of the groom, No. 11 Hudson street, Milton. She is a Dorchester girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Strong, No. 456 Norfolk street, and he is an instructor in the Dorchester High School. They met and learned to love each other while he, as an instructor of chemistry, had her as a pupil in the Dorchester High.

They were married by his grandfather, the Rev. William Bashe, a retired minister, ninety-one years old, and the oldest living graduate of the Andover Theological School. The ceremony took place on the lawn, and the couple were attended by Charles H. Hickey of Dorchester and Miss Beatrice Strong, sister of the bride.

There would have been a double wedding with these two latter as the contracting parties, had not Mrs. Strong refused to have her two daughters taken away from her on the same day. The Hickey-Strong wedding is now arranged for next Fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bisbee will live at his home in Milton, returning there after a honeymoon in the Berkshires.

RUSSIAN BARITONE FOR BOSTON OPERA

Director Henry Russell has made one of the most important acquisitions in his galaxy of artists announced for the first season of the new Boston Opera House by engaging George Baklanoff, the world-renowned Russian baritone. Mr. Russell has to pay a large sum to the Russian government for the release of Baklanoff, who is the leading baritone of the Imperial Opera House in Moscow. Baklanoff will make his American debut at the Boston Opera House as Barnaba in "La Gioconda" on the opening night.

CHEAP BEEF GOOD AS DEAR

DETROIT, July 1.—Cheaper cuts of beef contain just as high food values as do the tenderloins, the porterhouse steaks and the juicy sirloins, although they need to be chewed a while longer because generally tougher, according to a report made before the Biological Seminary section of the American Chemical Society, which is holding its annual convention here.

"Although the cheaper cuts are generally tougher," explained Professor S. C. Prescott, "the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the results after chewing will be the same as from that quarter of the platter usually reserved for the guest of honor."

A number of severely technical papers were read before the various sections of the society today, and a report was made by Dr. H. S. Crindley of the University of Illinois on a study which he made of the food requirements of twenty-four students of his university.

20 MILES IS NEW AUTO SPEED LIMIT

All autos must have two white lights in front and one red light in rear between half-hour after sunset and half-hour before sunrise.

Rear red light must show white on side and illuminate rear number.

Motorcycles must have one white light in front and one red light in rear at night.

Autos must stop on approaching horse on road if signal appears frightened, or if driver signals to stop.

Autoists must slow down upon approaching a curve in road, no matter whether latter is on crosswalk or not.

Autos must toot horn or otherwise signal on approaching a curve or turn in the road.

Speed limit throughout the state is twenty miles an hour, except in business and dwelling sections.

In making turns the speed limit is eight miles an hour.

In Boston the regulations of the Boston Park Commission and the recent street traffic ordinance of the Street Commissioners are nullified and the police will not prosecute under them as of late.

Four sections of the new law governing the use of motor vehicles on State highways take effect today. They repeal the nullification of ordinances, by-laws and regulations affecting speed in cities, towns or parks of the State, and after today the local traffic rules will be subject to the approval of the Railway Commission.

Section 7 of the new law requires certain lights on all motor vehicles. Section 14, which is practically new, governs the actions of motor drivers as far as pedestrians and drivers of horses are concerned. It says if an animal becomes frightened the motorist must bring his machine to a stop. This means that under certain circumstances even a speed of two or three miles an hour may be criminal. Another section also provides for the safety of passengers alighting from street cars. The motorist must stop if necessary to insure the safety of the passengers.

Section 16 is welcome to motorists, for it calls for uniform speed regulations throughout the State. Under it the speed limit is twenty miles an hour in open places, fifteen miles in thickly settled places or business parts of towns and cities and eight miles turning corners.

Section 17 eliminates local regulations. Police Commissioner O'Meara has been in structions to the Boston police not to prosecute for any motor vehicle offence which would have been a violation of the city ordinances, by rule or street traffic rules unless the offence is covered by the old State law.

He says:

"In accordance with instructions long existing, the police will not stop motor vehicles for the sole purpose of ascertaining whether or not the law as to licenses, certificates of registration, etc., has been complied with; but only when the ordinances and park and street traffic rules are again in effect a motor vehicle which violates any provision of these ordinances or rules as formerly in force will be stopped for the purpose of ascertaining as to certificate, badge, license, lights, etc."

R. H. WHITE COMPANY MINSTRELS BANQUET

The members of the R. H. White Company Mutual Benefit Association who participated in a minstrel show for the benefit of the association on the last two nights last month had a jollification at the American House. Fifty-three members numbered ninety, all young people, and a majority of the fair sex. After the banquet was served at a large number of round tables that divided the dining room into congenial groups. Then there was a session of speechmaking, interspersed with solo and concerted singing, not a few of the selections being from the minstrel show. N. J. Walnee, president of the association, was toastmaster.

The members gave Mr. Walnee a rousing rasp in recognition of the value of his abilities to the organization. Charles B. Mcdrath making the presentation address. Moses Morris and Frank McNulty also spoke. The festivities closed with an informal dance.

TENNESSEE DRY LAW NOW WORKING

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 1.—Bells in church and town clock steeples on tolling the midnight hour marked the passing of saloons in Tennessee, when the State-wide prohibition law went into effect. This law makes it illegal to sell alcoholic beverages within four miles of any schoolhouse in the State.

Only two cases are left in all Tennessee. Both are within twelve miles of Memphis near the Mississippi State line. The nearest schoolhouse is six miles from each of these points, but steps have already been taken by wide dispensers to have the county board of education erect a schoolhouse within the distance prescribed.

FASCINATING STORIES—The literary and editorial section of the SUNDAY AMERICAN will contain a variety of fiction tales of compelling interest.

CHINAMAN VICTIM OF TONG STRIFE

NEW YORK, July 1.—A Tong war began today when Ung Yaw, a Chinese laundryman, was strangled in his shop in the basement of No. 124 Stanton street. The Chinaman's body was found today by Sadie Markowitz, three years old, who had been in the habit of calling upon him every morning and getting Chinese sweetmeats. The man had been dead only a few hours when his body was found. There were signs of a terrible struggle in the room he occupied and there was evidence that he had been attacked by two or more men.

THINK SUSPECT IS ALLEGED SWINDLER

NEW YORK, July 1.—In the arrest at Vancouver, B. C., of a man who described himself as E. S. Kirkconnell, the police of this city believe they have in custody Francis G. Bailey, of this city, one time president of the Kingan Shipping Company. Bailey, after obtaining about $150,000 worth of general merchandise from merchants of this city, sailed in Honduras in the Spring of last year, where, after his arrest and while being brought back to this port, he escaped during the night of Tuesday, June 29, 1908, from the Norwegian steamer Utstein and swam ashore at Puerto Cortez, Honduras.

BAN JOHNSON IN BOSTON ON ANNUAL TRIP

B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, is in town. He arrived this morning and paid a call at the office of the Boston club, where he met President John T. Taylor and the baseball reporters.

"I am simply on my annual Summer visit to Boston," said Mr. Johnson, "and to stay here will have no particular significance. There are no baseball wars, you know; on the contrary, the national game is never in a more healthy condition.

"I will attend the games at the Huntington Avenue Grounds while I am here and will, as usual, have a talk with the umpires who are officiating here."

Mr. Johnson was asked what he thought of the move of Charlie Havemor, president of the Milwaukee Club in buying a large piece of property in Chicago and of the report that the American Association would put a club in Chicago.

"I have not given it much thought," replied Mr. Johnson. "All I know about it is what I read in the newspapers."

In commenting on the reports in the Boston newspapers of the umpiring at the Huntington avenue grounds the American League president declared that Perrine was a splendid official and that his judgment on the bases was particularly fine.

Mr. Johnson expects to go to New York after leaving here. Boston is the first city he visited after leaving Chicago.

Play continued in the Massachusetts State golf championship at the Woodland links to-day, the third round being completed before the noon hour.

NELSON WILL BET 2 TO 1 ON HIMSELF

CHICAGO, July 1.—Battling Nelson dropped into town just long enough to discuss some of his prospective battles.

"This fellow McFarland has been talking a great deal and doing little. Now I have a proposition to make him. He has been posing as a lightweight and if he is such I should like to make him a proposition. I am willing and anxious to fight him at the legitimate lightweight limit and will bet him $2,000 to $2,000 that I can beat him at 133 pounds ringside. This is the real notch for lightweights, notwithstanding the figures sometimes adhered to in bouts for the championship. Packey now may show whether he is a lightweight or a welterweight and if he is the former he will find the "Durable Dane" more than willing to bet him 2 to 1 that he can beat him.

"There has been considerable talk about a match between myself and Johnny Thompson for September 9. Now, I am perfectly willing to meet Thompson on this date, but I must have the necessary financial guarantee before I will sign for the Huntington avenue grounds the American League president declared that Perrine was a splendid official and that his judgment on the bases was particularly fine.

Mr. Johnson expects to go to New York after leaving here. Boston is the first city he visited after leaving Chicago.

"Why have been saying that the Dane is going back. Did my fight with Hyland and Clifford show that the champion is on the road to Hasbenville? Not much. I am still as good as ever and I can whip any man who can make the lightweight limit. Bring them on one at a time and the Dane from Hegewisch will stow them away."

"I am matched to meet Wolgast July 13," said the champion. "I am to get $5,500 for ten rounds and $7,500 for twenty or forty-five rounds if it is decided to prolong the match to such an extent. Wolgast looks like all of the other fighters I have met. Bring them all on. I can lick them all. I don't know whom I shall meet after I get through with Wolgast. It all depends on the financial inducements Coffroth offers. Thompson, McGovern, Hyland and the others. They all look alike to me."

GOLF GOSSIP
NEWS OF THE LINKS

J. G. Anderson, the former State amateur champion, who left Tuesday night on the Ivernia for the other side, where he will play on many of the golf courses of Scotland, came near having to spend part of his first day out on the rocks at the entrance to Boston Harbor near Golfun's Island. A small boat blocked the channel and it looked for a minute as though the Ivernia was to be "on the rocks."

Richard Croker, the ex-Democratic boss of New York, is an ardent golfer and very much interested in all branches of sport. He has donated many prizes for golfers, and lately has put up a handsome prize for yachtsmen to compete for as well.

Van Vleck, the Yale golf team captain, was the star of the second game between Harvard and Yale. It seems queer that T. Briggs, the Harvard first baseman, a crack-a-jack golfer, should save the day for Harvard in the first game and that Van Vleck should make the sensational play at New Haven in the second contest.

A great deal more interest is being manifested this year in professional golf than ever before. All the favorites for first honors in the State open meeting and their quota of admirers following them about the links yesterday and an even larger attendance is anticipated to-day at Woodland.

TRACK GOSSIP

M. F. Dorsey of Fort Fairfield, Me., has brought the trotting stallion C. S., 2.22¾, from Dr. C. McCurdy, Bangor, Me.

C. L. Jackson has is training at Foxcroft, Me., Lady Glen, 2.18¾; Bessie Barron, 2.17¼; a 3-year-old by Vassar, 2.07¼, and a three-year-old filly by Vassar, 2.07.

Dana S. Pratt of Whitman, Mass., has sold his pacing gelding by Oakland, 2.11¼, to M. Mc-Intyre, Plymouth, and Young Reward, 2.17¼, to Charles Baker of Whitman, showing him a half in 1.08 on the day of sale.

I. W. Potts of Portland, Me., purchased from Charles Wells of Gardiner, Me., the pacing stallion Lover 2.18¾, and intends racing him.

Commander, 2.19¾, that has a trial of 2.14¾ left in it, is for sale by his owner, W. A. Bradford of Bangor, Me.

Boston horsemen were sorry to learning that the pacing mare getting over Lady McDonald has worked this season in 2.11, has gone along behind, and is at present being fed to the ferrets.

Thinner Ann Twitchell of Springfield has gone to Chester Oak Park, Hartford, with his string of trotters.

The report comes from Hartford that C. W. Small has stepped Judge Arc, 2.14¾, a mile in 2.11.

It is doubtful whether Readville will see the new grandstand this year after all. Andy Welch has graded the lawn so that persons can easily see over those who stand in front, and it is said he intends putting rows of settees along the lawn during the Grand Circuit meeting, with a high entrance fee sure to keep off the poor.

Burt Tuxbury will bandle the home let of the Colony string, some eighteen head, a few of which will join the main stable late in the week, and others will be raced over the local half-mile tracks.

BOWERMAN IS NOT TO GO, SAYS DOVEY

President John Dovey of the Boston National League Club did not go with the team to Philadelphia, but remained in Boston to look after considerable work which had been piling up. He expects to leave town at midnight to join his team in Philadelphia.

The rumors are still floating around stronger than ever that Manager Frank Bowerman of the Doves is to be traded or sold to the New York Giants, and a recent message from Glanville stated that all arrangements had been completed for the transfer of Big Mike from Boston to New York, and that he might possibly be seen with the Giants to-morrow.

President Dovey, when seen at his office to-day said there was positively no truth to these rumors, and said that there were likely some enemies of Bowerman, in New York who were trying to stir up trouble. Mr. Dovey added: "If Bowerman is to be turned over to the New York team, I am sure I know nothing about it. Bowerman has not been deposed as manager of the Doves, and there is no deal on with Mc-Graw of the Giants for Frank's services. Any and all these rumors that Clarence Beaumont has been released, they are also false. Beau has not been given his ten days' notice, and will stick right with the team."

SVANBERG DEFEATS CROOK.

WORCESTER, July 1.—John V. Svanberg, the champion Marathon runner, defeated Ted Crook of Fall River in a fifteen-mile race at Quinsigamond Park. Crook quit on the second lap of the twelfth mile. Svanberg's time was 1h. 22m. 40s.

JOHNSON UNABLE TO PUT OUT SECOND RATER

PITTSBURG, July 1.—Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight boxer, outpointed Tony Ross of Newcastle in a six-round bout before the National A. C. here. No decision was permissable, but the negro was entitled to the $2,000 purse and the men clinched. This was the first effective blow Ross landed. The round ended with the men in the centre of the ring in a clinch.

FIFTH ROUND.

Ross came up apparently groggy, with Johnson sarcastically grinning. With a vicious left swing to the face Johnson rocked Ross. Ross tried to stand off Johnson, but there was no chance. John son was in and out like a flash, and Ross could not stop him. The gong saved Ross from further punishment.

SIXTH ROUND.

FOURTH ROUND.

Johnson came up smiling, with Ross in distress. Johnson greeted the Newcastle boxer. Ross led with his left to the jaw and the men clinched. This was the first effective blow Ross landed. The round ended with the men in the centre of the ring in a clinch.

Johnson showed lack of condition and was very awkward when he took the aggressive. A left hook and right shot to the face put Ross down for the count of nine just before the bell rang in the first round; the gong saved him, yet Johnson was unable to finish him in the remaining five rounds.

The bout by rounds:

FIRST ROUND.

Johnson led left to stomach and then repeated. Ross led right to jaw. Johnson sent a stiff left to Ross's chin, repeating the blow with a right counter, drawing blood from Ross's nose. With a left and right to face, Johnson staggered Ross, who went to his knees, taking the count of nine, the bell saving him.

SECOND ROUND.

THIRD ROUND.

Ross, with a right to the stomach and a left to the jaw, removed the grin from Johnson's face. Johnson continued the use of his vicious left swing. Ross stumbled in an effort to get away from Johnson's jabs, and slipped to his knees, taking the count at every mile, for amateurs.

RED SOX AFTER REVENGE FOR DOUBLE DEFEAT

KETCHEL NOW A 2 TO 1 CHOICE OVER PAPKE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—It might be explained at the Ringside Athletic Club by Knockout Brown that Ad Wolgast was made favorite over Ritchie at odds of 2 to 1, and there was a lot of even money that betwixt and between "Grandmaster" Willie Ritchie found Ad Wolgast a tougher proposition than he cannot complete if the pictures are being filmed.

Selfishness of Woman Shows in Her Moods

A Plain Talk Will Help

My first remedy for every unpleasant state of affairs [illegible] is to have a good, plain talk on the subject. Better than talking it writing, which saves the necessity of either [illegible] into an argument before the point is made clear.

I think this husband would do well to write his wife a letter. Tell her how anxious he is to have a happy home and how impossible it is, if she will not overcome it and start out on a new basis with her. If this sort of treatment does not bring her to reason I do not know what will.

A really unselfish woman, such as he calls me his wife is would, of course, spend to such a [illegible] because she would see the impossibility of any happiness for her husband if she continued to indulge these disagreeable moods.

Woman Makes Home Atmosphere

Woman makes the atmosphere of a house. It is for her to decide what that atmosphere shall be. Shame on the woman who does not make it an atmosphere of love and love.

Women are apt to excuse themselves for giving their moods and their tempers by saying that they inherit these peculiarities, or that they are the result of sickness or ill-health. That is folly. There is no individual who cannot overcome if he set his mind about it, and some of the people who have suffered the greatest losses and greatest trials in life have developed supremest characters. It is pure selfishness which permits a woman to indulge these weaknesses.

Danger to the Summer Man

The Picnic Girl, the Bathing Girl, the Fishing Girl and the Widow Are a Few of the Summer Man's Perils

By Dorothy Dix

"With the man it is a case of Scylla and Charybdis. He dodges one fascinator merely to fall into the wiles of another."

THIS is the time of the year when the average young man with a two weeks' vacation to his credit blithely takes his single blessedness in hand and tackles the Adirondack Summer resort. It is a feat of heroic daring that meets with its own reward, for while it lasts he has the figure of the stage and all the limelight. He breathes, for once in his life, the incense of feminine adoration that is the most intoxicating thing on earth.

He is king, with nobody to dispute his kingdom with him. He may bask, not only in the smile of one woman, but of a hundred. He finds that Maude, who was unkeen to in December, is in a melting mood in August; that Gwendoline the proud in Winter has become Gwendoline the humble in Summer, and that the man a woman couldn't see during the season at home will pay out good money to look at at a Summer hotel in the dog days.

No other human being ever so completely has the world in a sling as the Summer young man, but, alas, every pleasure has a sting to it, every zone its thorn, and the situation is as full of danger as it is of delight.

Many men go to Summer resorts [illegible] returning engaged. Still more [illegible] how it happened. Sentiment [illegible] the air, and they caught the [illegible] like measles. Nobody would be [illegible] if every single person [illegible]. Unfortunately which now prevents itself slip in, and yet I do not know whether it would be as easy [illegible] to feel sure that she loves me, and I myself love her more than any one else in the world.

I THINK, under the circumstances, you might tell her how much you care for her, but I do not think you should expect to bind her to any formal engagement or even to ask her to write with the understanding that you are to show her letters to whomever she appears on the horizon with the idea that you are to inspect and have access to her mail. Such a course is very unfair. What is right for you is right for her, and I never believe in tying up any one for me when I am free myself. What I want to know is that the one I love loves me best of all, and I am willing to allow her the same privilege. If she cares to waste her time on another [illegible] M. H.

Do you think this young man cause for hard feeling between you and your sister? If you see that he really cares more for her than he does for you, the wisest thing to do will be to step aside and let nothing more [illegible] with him. You will be wise to not [illegible] to hold him against his will, for love, however, [illegible] he merely looks at her because of her beauty, and that he really likes you better.

"IN STAID OLD BOSTON," an original comedy in one act, with complete stage direction by the stage director for E. H. Sothern, will be given fre with th SUNDAY AMERICAN.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

WHICHEVER WAY PREFERRED

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I am a young man twenty years old and know a young lady of the same age personally.

I have known this girl for four months and like her very much and would like very much to give her a present, such as a box of candy or a set of books.

I would like to know, Miss Fairfax, how to give it to her.

For instance, if I wish to give her a set of books would it be advisable to give them to her personally or send it by mail or express.

THANKFUL.

IT would be equally proper to present them personally or to send them by mail. If you feel at all bashful about it you might find it easier to send them by mail, enclosing your card and a little message.

NOT MUCH OF A MAN.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young girl twenty-two years of age and am engaged to live with a man for three years. He is a great deal older than I am, but in other girl in [illegible] He has been keeping company with me for two years, but I [illegible] months in regard to her and can't make up my mind whether to marry him or not. Please, dear Miss Fairfax, tell me what to do and oblige

PERPLEXED.

I don't like to [illegible] to mention this [illegible] from me and [illegible] very sensible fellow [illegible] to be telling him [illegible] what to do. Pitch [illegible] with it.

HE cannot be a [illegible] of much character not talk of the [illegible] to the [illegible] which he does. He [illegible] not be well probably treat you the same way. I think that instead of trying to mind hurting his feelings you had better have a plain talk with him and tell him to keep away from you and be true to the girl whose love he has won.

MIGHT SPEAK TO HER

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young man twenty-two years of age. I am deeply in love with a girl of about my age. Her home is in the West but at present she is here in New York with me. Now I realize that I have not enough to provide for her, while she is very rich. Opportunity good, so should I wait until can more your for [illegible] you, or should I feel as if I ought not to let the opportunity which now presents itself slip by, and yet I do not know whether I would be as fully [illegible] to feel sure that she loves me, and I myself love her more than any one in the world. H. W.

I think, under the circumstances, you might tell her how much you care for her, but I do not think you should expect to bind her to any formal engagement or even to ask her to write with the understanding that you are to show her letters to whomever she appears on the horizon with the idea that you are to inspect and have access to her mail. Such a course is very unfair. What is right for you is right for her, and I never believe in tying up any one for me when I am free myself. What I want to know is that the one I love loves me best of all, and I am willing to allow her the same privilege. If she cares to waste her time on another [illegible] M. H.

Do you think this young man cause for hard feeling between you and your sister? If you see that he really cares more for her than he does for you, the wisest thing to do will be to step aside and let nothing more [illegible] with him. You will be wise to not [illegible] to hold him against his will, for love, however, [illegible] he merely looks at her because of her beauty, and that he really likes you better.

Smart Set —at Seaside— Flower Show

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

The annual flower show at Manchester called out all the fashionable set along the shore today. Among the exhibitors are Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. H. L. Higginson, Mrs. S. Reed Anthony and many others of the Back Bay set. The show was well patronized yesterday.

One of the smart-set events of the week will be the dance to be given to-morrow evening by Mrs. John Swann of Stockbridge and New York in honor of the attendants at the wedding of her son, Dr. Arthur W. Swann, and Miss Susan Ridley Sedgwick, to be solemnized in St. Paul's Church, Stockbridge, on Saturday. The bridesmaids are the bride's sister, Miss Grace A. Sedgwick, and Misses Eleanor L. Whittridge, Janet Dana, Dorothy Whitney, Dorothy Tuckerman and Lorraine Roosevelt. Dr. Alfred Stillman is the best man, and the ushers will be Dr. Henry James, Malcolm McFarney, George L. Kobbe, Julian Peabody, Charles S. Butler and John B. Swann, a brother of the bridegroom. The dance will be preceded by a dinner.

"Joy Luncheon" was the merry-sounding name applied to the luncheon which Dr. Rucy Bartlett Stevens gave at her home in Roslindale in honor of the return of social life of Mrs. Mary E. Chapin. The luncheon also celebrated Mrs. Chapin's recovery from a recent severe illness. The various tables were beautifully decorated with roses, and a feature of the menu was a joy cake made by Miss Alma Brainard for the occasion. Dr. Stevens wore white embroidered linen and the guests were Miss Marion H. Brasler, in white linen, with embroidered flounces; Miss Coletta Ryan, in black lace and gold; Miss Bessie Brainard, in violet linen; Mrs. Nellie M. Horne, in black and white foulard; Miss Cara Colburn, in a white lingerie costume, and Mrs. Chapin, in white batiste, with handsome hand embroidery.

A pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. E. M. Bullock of St. Matthews' Episcopal Church, when he united Miss Emma E. Ennis of South Boston and Frank C. Bryan of Philadelphia. The bride wore a gown of white batiste embroidery and carried bridal roses. Miss Grace Higgins of Roxbury was bridesmaid, and was gowned in white lace over blue silk and wore a large picture hat of black tulle. Robert Norris of Boston was best man. Mr. Bryan is manager at the Perkins Institution for the Blind, and is a graduate of Girard College, Pennsylvania, home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan have gone on a wedding trip to the Delaware River Gap.

Colonel William D. ——, his charming daughters, one of whom, Alice, is a member of the Vincent Club, are at Magnolia for the Summer. Col. Scholey has devoted to that section of the shore, has expended $1,000 to the town authorities for improvement of one of the avenues and the amount has been accepted.

Former Governor Guild, who with Mrs. Guild sailed for Europe earlier in the month, is to attend the ceremonies incident to the dedication of a monument to the savant, Michael Servet, at Vienne, in the province of Isere, France, August 14. Governor Guild will represent the United States at the ceremony.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Sr., is to entertain Count and Countess de Chambrun at her North Shore Summer place.

Major John Bigelow, Jr., U. S. A. of Boston is at the Ridlon summer place on Seaview avenue for the season. His family is with him, having left Boston a few days ago.

Miss Annie Lyman of Boston is entertaining Mrs. B. Townsend and her daughter at her summer home on Webster street.

Newport is very popular with army and navy men and their families at present because of the great number of diplomats, both foreign and American, who make this resort their summer headquarters. Rear Admiral F. M. Ramsay and family have planned to spend the summer at the Hughes cottage in Everett street.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Morgan of Commonwealth avenue are to be in Bar Harbor early in this month, where they will remain until late in September. Lawrence Morgan, who is a Harvard man, is going to spend the Summer at Manchester and will live at the Essex County Club.

Miss Lota Robinson of Baltimore, who is a sister of Mrs. James Lowell Putnam of Boston, is to pass a part of the season in Newport, where she will be entertained by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Robley D. Evans have decided to spend the Summer in Newport, where they will be the guests of their son and his wife, Lieutenant Frank T. Evans of the Naval War College, and Mrs. Evans.

Miss Anna B. Shaw of the Homestead in Lenox has issued invitations for a bridge whist party at the Homestead on July 5. Mrs. Kate Gannett Wells of Otis shore and her daughter, Miss Louise Appleton Wells, who is prominent in golf circles, are to spend the Summer months at Campobello, N. B.

Vice-Admiral Count Togo of the Japanese navy was entertained by Rear Admiral John P. Merrell, U. S. N., at the Naval Training Station on Wednesday. Admiral Uriu left Newport later in the day for Boston.

Under the direction of Dr. James Dwight of Boston the national lawn tennis tournament will open on Tuesday morning, August 17, at the Newport Casino. The Newport Horse Show will come later, on September 6, 7 and 8. It will also be held at the Casino.

M. Portelo, the minister from Argentine to Washington, closed his mission in Washington Wednesday, when he left the Capitol for Magnolia, where the embassy will be located for the Summer. Julian Portelo, the son of the minister and second secretary of the Legation, sailed for Europe this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman of Boston are in New London, Ct., for the boat races. They will leave for their Summer place, Bee Rock, in Beverly, a little later.

Latest among the prominent society folk to arrive at Newport are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Symes Lehr.

The Bill Clerk Buys a Pair of Shoes and Gets "Skinned"

By KENNETH HARRIS

"THEY'RE nifty looking shoes," the cashier conceded. "I can easily understand what a temptation it must have been to buy them. But your old ones are almost worn out, Johnny."

"Well, what if the pore?" queried the bill clerk.

"Why, you'll have to buy another new pair that you can wear on your feet, won't you?"

"Oh, cut it out," snapped the bill clerk. "I never had a pair that felt easier on me since the first time I got skinned, though. They soaked it to me for fifty cents more than I could have got the same shoe for half a block further down the street—four bucks."

It's Safer to Ask the Price

"You should have asked about the price before you bought 'em," said the cashier.

"I don't doubt it," growled the bill clerk.

"I know it isn't considered princely to ask how much anything is going to cost you," the cashier continued, "but it's a mighty good thing for a plug to do, and I fear that financially you would be rated a plug. The goods may be just exactly what you think you want in shape, pattern texture, quality, color or what not, but don't tell the man to wrap it up until you're quite sure you can afford it. Now, there's the young woman that you talk so much about."

"If I did, that wouldn't give you any license," said the bill clerk.

"I mentioned her merely for the purpose of illustration," explained the cashier. "I'll say that a young man like you might see a young woman and become instantly desirous of one and unbridled ownership of the aforesaid. She's all wool and a yard wide, you think, 'full jewelled and furnished with all the modern improvements, half marked sterling.' 'Mister man,' says you, 'how much for the beauteous blonde creature with the melting blue eyes and the musical voice?'

"Well, being as how it's you,' says the man, 'I'll let you have her for days of unceasing toil and care and nights of wakeful worry with broken health and gray hairs and wrinkles and sorrow and a suit for divorce. Easy terms—you needn't pay it all at once,' says he."

"She's a brunette," corrected the bill clerk.

"Of course, that alters the case," said the cashier. "Did you ever go into a saloon and ask the price of a drink of whiskey?"

"Never," replied the bill clerk. "Even if I didn't know, I wouldn't want to expose my ignorance by asking. The ordinary whiskey of retail commerce calls for fifteen cents in single doses, I'm told."

It's a Costly Purchase

"It may cost more than that," said the cashier. "It may cost you your self-respect, your brains—what little you may have—your happy home, your friends, your position in society, and give you the worst kind of a headache."

"Would it cost all that if I took you with me?" asked the bill clerk.

"No, indeed," answered the cashier, "in that case ten cents will let you out easy. You can always take off a larger discount in such cases for a restraining influence, and we'd drink buttermilk, of course."

"The question is—would you?" said the bill clerk.

The Diary —of a— Firecracker

By C. B. QUINCY

WRAPPED up in a nice red paper and put in front position in window, I am much bigger than the others in the window, and I guess I'll make a much bigger bang when I go off. There are a lot of small crackers that make little splutters and shoot around the ground, but, of course, they're much smaller than I am. I am a real cannon cracker.

Lots of little boys flatten their noses against the window. Most of them fix their eyes on me, which shows what one. I ought to be in a big window by myself.

The small crackers are going very rapidly. Boys come in and get some every day, but I don't think they've got enough money to buy me. Some of the boys can't wait after they buy mine, and set them off on the sidewalk right in front of the window. I don't think much of them—wait till I go off.

Saw the newsboy find a nickel on the street yesterday. He came in and asked how much I cost. He said it was too much, so I was safe.

I'm bought! A man came in with a little boy called Bob and bought a lot of things for him. Bob said: "Oo'oh, papa; the one!" So the man bought me with others, and Bob carried me home himself.

Bob seems to be a nice boy. He has a lot of kids from other houses to come see the fun. They were all excited, then Bob said, "Now we'll set off the fellow!"

His mother said to Bob's father, "Oh, you think it's safe?" and his father: "Of course; but, Bob, you mustn't go it when the fuse is lit."

Bob is lighting the fuse.

Gee, it's tickly—feel as if I were to sneeze.

Coming closer—no, it seems to have gone out.

Bob rushes over to see what the dickens! I'm going to burst—can't be! he's got me in his hand. I—BANG!

Bob's Mother—} "Oh, doctor, how Bob's Father—} is—"
Doctor—"I'm pretty sure I can save the sight of his eyes."

Have a Holstein Cow In Your Kitchen

Have rich milk or cream whenever you want it. No waiting for the milkman, no shortage, no waste. Have whole milk for your cooking—pure milk for your children. That is not, as it once was, an impossible dream.

Just think for a moment what Van Camp's Milk means.

A milk you can serve and know that there isn't a germ of any kind in it.

A milk you can cook with and know you are getting all the butter fat that belongs to it.

It is both milk and cream.

Think how convenient, how enticing it is to have pure milk and cream on tap.

Why don't you? It isn't expensive. It costs less than milkman's milk.

No Disease Germs

The bane of raw milk is disease germs. For any germ in milk breeds with frightful rapidity.

There may be germs of consumption from tubercular cows, which are common. Infections may come from diseased milkmen or from dirty dairies.

These germs make raw milk the most terrible foe of humanity. For one thing, two-thirds our infant mortality is due to them.

Van Camp's milk is germless.

Our cow's are inspected; so are the men who milk them. Our dairies are sanitary. Our buildings are built without wood. We make a business of cleanliness.

Then Van Camp's is pasteurized after the cans are sealed. Not a germ of any kind can remain in it.

Nothing But Milk

Van Camp's is simply rich Holstein milk, with two-thirds the water evaporated. Nothing whatever is added. Nothing is subtracted save water.

It's not a peculiar milk.

Our cows are the finest breed. Our dairies are in the best dairying sections. Our milk is evaporated while it is fresh.

That slight almond flavor—apparent only when the milk is drunk cold—is due to sterilization. It means nothing added. It indicates simple purity.

When you heat the milk—as in cooking or coffee—the almond flavor disappears. You have then the natural flavor of milk or cream, save our surprising richness.

Six Cents Per Quart

Van Camp's is as thick as thick cream—so thick that you add one part water for coffee. Yet it doesn't cost half what you pay your milkman for cream.

Add two parts water and you have rich milk. The cost of such milk, when you buy Van Camp's by the case, is but six cents per quart.

Then you have no waste—no milk left over. That saving, in itself, is enormous.

So you have a cow in your kitchen—rich milk or cream whenever you want it. And it costs less than hand-to-mouth buying.

You have a pure, rich milk for less than you pay your milkman.

Matchless Milk Dishes

Just make one milk dish with Van Camp's. Note the wonderful flavor and richness. Then you'll forever use it.

Yet that flavor is not artificial. It comes solely from the whole, rich milk.

You are used to cooking with half-milk—you who buy from the milkman. For milkman's milk separates, before and after you get it.

The butter fat rises; the solids fall. You get so you don't know what whole milk means.

You get all the milk in Van Camp's.

But Be Careful

Condensed milk is half sugar. You can't use it for cooking. Don't think that Van Camp's is like that.

And don't think that all evaporated milks are alike.

Van Camp's milk shows about 8 per cent of butter fat. That's because we use Holstein milk, and take out two-thirds of the water.

But milk less rich, and with more water left in, may still be called "evaporated."

If you'll compare Van Camp's with other brands, you will see what a difference there is. Yet others cost as much as Van Camp's.

Van Camp's Milk comes in 5 and 10-cent cans, at your grocer's. It is put up at our dairies, in five states, where we milk 20,000 Holstein cows.

INSPIRING TRIBUTE TO ARCHBISHOP

Not one of the thousands who took part in the Mechanics Hall reception to Archbishop O'Connell last night is likely ever to lose the mental impressions of the scene. Bostonians have shared in many tributes to notable men, all of them memorable for their numbers, enthusiasm and significance, but the meeting of last evening may be fairly described as transcending any gathering of like nature held within the confines of Boston.

Americanism of the grandest and highest type breathed through every note of the proceedings, from the inspiring opening by Judge Murray until the climax of patriotic feeling was reached at the close, when that vast representative Boston audience rose, and with the full fervor of true national emotion sang the "Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by band and orchestra.

In that great, chorus the men at the press tables could hear the voices of the Catholic Archbishop and the Unitarian Governor blending as they sang together the anthem of their common country.

And no less significant were the words of the guest of the evening, when in his feeling and eloquent address he said:

"America can never again be ignored. She stands firm in her place, and henceforth must be respected and reckoned with. In the witty speech of my own dear race, 'the American abroad is at home.' All this serves to emphasize the nobility of our country and the importance of our influence, and in this growth New England, Massachusetts, Boston, undoubtedly have a very considerable share.

"And with all that is narrow and petty as a base, and up in the brotherhood of man think that my work as a bishop diminishes or contracts the love of my art for all the people of this broad land, or for every citizen that dwells in this of which we are all justly proud. No, ommand times, no fear.

"There is no single act of mine as a op which is not at the same time an act devoted and loyal service to Boston the Commonwealth. For the sanctity mmon relations, the sacredness of law duty of honor lie at the very base of ivic life, and the upbuilding of these sentiments constitute my daily task, gnerely to my own people, but to all."

DEDHAM WIDOW SURPRISES FAMILY WITH WEDDING

Mrs. Harold Finley.

Scores of the friends of Mrs. Tilly Marshall of Dedham and Harold L. Finley, a gunner at Fort Andrews were surprised to-day to learn that they had been secretly married last night in Dedham. The announcement of their engagement was made sometime ago and their friends were looking forward to the wedding which was to have taken place in a couple of weeks.

The ceremony was performed last night by the Rev. E. W. Virgin at his home No. 44 Court street, Dedham.

Mrs. Finley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rafferty, of Dedham. It is her second matrimonial venture. She is twenty-five years old. The bridegroom is three years her senior. Mr Finley will be sent to Virginia, where he will instruct militiamen in the summer military maneuvres.

COSTS $1 MORE TO DIE IN LYNN

It will cost more to die in Lynn after to-day. Hacks will be $5. They have been $4. A special meeting of the eighteen Lynn stable-keepers was called last night and the price was boosted. The stable-keepers have become indignant at the undertakers who for many years have pocketed one-fourth of the price paid for hacks at funerals.

For many years in the Shoe City the established price for funeral hacks has been $4. The undertakers had agreements with the stablemen who furnished the hacks, and the undertakers charged $4 for the hacks and gave the stablemen $3.

Now, according to the stablemen, the price of grain and hay is higher than it has ever been, and they deem it necessary to raise the price.

MERCHANTS ON HARBOR INSPECTION

More than five hundred members of Boston Chamber of Commerce and their invited guests started at 2 o'clock this afternoon on one of the most comprehensive and important inspections of Boston harbor and waterfront ever undertaken by a body of business men.

In going from Rowe's wharf to Nantasket, where a banquet and speeches topped off the inspection tour, the business men spread the harbor trip over a space of three hours, instead of the hour or less usually needed to go that distance.

The extra time was planned in order to accomplish a remarkable sight-seeing journey over all the harbor and along the principal waterfront.

The object in doing this, as set forth in the invitations issued by Frederick P. Stanton of the Chamber of Commerce, is so that the business men may "see what is needed to make the harbor a more important factor in our commercial prosperity; members ought to know more about our shipping facilities and their possible expansion."

The harbor trip was made on the steamer Massachusetts, which was especially chartered for the occasion. The trip was arranged by the maritime committee of the Boston extension committee of the chamber. The maritime committee was volunteered to act as official coaches.

Each member of the committee was provided with a man with a megaphone. He told the megaphone man what he wanted and the megaphone man repeated it to the crowd. The members of the maritime committee, all familiar with the harbor, included J. Richard Carnes, Upham B. Marshall, Lewis R. Thurlow, Edward P. Robinson and Charles Skentelbery.

The members of the Boston extension committee, which arranged the day's program, included Walter M. Lowney (chairman), Fred L. Carter, Edric Eldridge, Paul A. Fitzpatrick, Thomas J. O'Donnell and George O. Sheldon.

Some of the biggest business men, capitalists, employers and captains of industry of Boston went on the trip.

At the head of the Chamber of Commerce members was James J. Storrow, president of that organization. Completing him were officers of the organization, such as First Vice President Bernard J. Rothwell, Second Vice-President John C. Cobb, Executive Director Frederick P. Stanton, Treasurer Daniel D. Morss and Secretary James A. McKibben.

Among the congressional delegation present were Congressman Joseph J. O'Connell and Congressman George P. Lawrence. The latter is a member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee and was slated as one of the principal speakers for the dinner at Nantasket to-night.

Other prominent invited guests noticed on the throng at the rail were Brigadier Lieutenant Colonel Edward Burr, U. S. A., Lieutenant Ulysses S. Grant, 2d, U. S. A., Assistant Freight Traffic Manager A. E. Crane of the Boston & Maine, T. J. Harwood, Rear Admiral Francis T. Bowles (retired) of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, and George E. Smith, Heman A. Hardinge and S. M. Mansfield of the Harbor and Land Commission.

COFFEE FIRM HOST TO 1,300

More than thirteen hundred grocers from all over New England returned to their homes to-day, satisfied that "Coffee and Sanborn day" in Boston is worth coming a long way to enjoy. These people were the special guests of the Sanborn Company, and in the steamer Governor Dingley they took a sail down the harbor.

They brought their lady friends with them, and a committee of fifty chosen from the company's employes were filling in and see that plenty of entertainment was provided. Each guest was provided with a map and a pamphlet to inform him on points of interest in the trip.

A banquet was served and watch fob souvenirs for the men and stickpins for the women were distributed. The Chief of the Sanborn Company sent invitations to its 7,500 customers in New England, and 1,300 besides those who responded was practically the entire New England travelling force of the coffee company.

NEW HAVEN MEN GET BIG INCREASE

Employes in the clerical departments of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad are rejoicing to-day over the fact that their salaries have been returned to the basis from which they were cut August 1, 1908.

It was stated in the Boston offices of the railroad system that prosperity was responsible for the increase of from $5 to 10 per cent. in salaries in the clerical force that went into effect this morning. It means, in round numbers, $125,000 more for the employes of the railroad than they have been receiving.

SCENE AS JUDGE FREES TWO YOUTHS

Judge Almy, in the Cambridge Court today, upon the recommendation of Assistant McMinimon and Medical Examiner William D. Swan, dismissed the case against William Rowan and Alfred S. Gilmour, two Cambridge youths charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Daniel O'Neil on June 22. When Judge Almy declared the men free Gilmour's white-haired mother threw herself upon her son's neck and wept. Then scores of the young man's friends and relatives congratulated them. It was found that O'Neil did not die of criminal violence.

The prisoner is about thirty-four years old, and despite his assertion that he had been in Mexico more than four months, evidence is at hand that he reached here less than two months ago.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS; LATEST FINANCIAL NEWS

REALTY GAINS DURING JUNE

An important realty transaction in the city property to-day was the announcement of the letting of a fifty-year lease on the sub-basement of the new Blake building at the corner of Washington and Temple place by the Edison Electric Company, which will use it as a substation for the distribution of its service. Although the price is not made public, it figures well into the thousands. The Edison Company will take possession at once and will install a great storage battery on the premises.

A big increase in the number of transfers and mortgages and the amount of mortgages for the month of June over the same for the corresponding months of both 1908 and 1906, is noted in the entries of record at the Suffolk registry of deeds, as compiled by the Real Estate Exchange.

The following table shows the month's transactions:

	1909.	1908.	1901.
No. of transfers	2,114	2,191	1,991

WALL ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

WALL STREET, New York, July 1.—An interesting sign of the financial times is the number of American bonds that are being lodged in the United States. The idea of floating in the North a bond issued by the Latin countries would have been deemed preposterous not long ago. Both money and confidence were lacking. To-day both are at hand, especially the former.

The growing interest of American financiers in the great undeveloped issues of South America must be mutually beneficial. Loans are far more effective in stimulating trade than the occasional limit sentiment components of the Pan-American order. They will also give the Monroe Doctrine a decidedly substantial meaning.

An argument of which the bulls make considerable use is that what many persons believe will be a panic market has not arrived at the end of the month, has not materialized, and that a factor heretofore disregarded will now make its force felt, this being the investment of the large amounts of money paid out in interest and dividends on July 1.

There has been considerable buying of stocks in a quiet way the last few days by investors who are getting their July dividends and interest back into the market. The effect of this buying is not large in re-investing this money is the best proof of the market's stability.

The news of the day consisted of railway earnings for the month of May. Gross earnings for the month show an increase, but the net falls in some cases of the railroads reporting. The net of the Canton Pacific and South'n, there be a decrease of $1,000,000, and the Pennsylvania contrary to former monthly statements, expected to fall far below the June figures. For the eleven months the clear gain of the Harriman lines is $5,792,921, that of Southern, $5,931,302.

$ $ $

Rumor has it that an important announcement in regard to Southern Pacific will be made before the holidays, the greatest interest being that this will have reference to the progress of negotiations for the listing of the stock in Paris. Not informed interests said, however, that while the outlook were favorable the listing negotiations had not yet reached a point where an announcement was possible. The Morgan name furnished a reason why no premature statement is likely to be made regarding the Southern Pacific matter.

$ $ $

Perhaps the most important announcement of the day was that the Lackawanna and Reading syndicate had completed plans which will take over the assets to be segregated under the ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States. The new company will have a capital of $8,800,000, which is a little more than 25 per cent. of the capital stock of the Reading Company. A cash dividend of 25 per cent. is therefore expected within a few days or a few weeks, which money to be used in paying for the cost company.

$ $ $

Announcement that the Lackawanna has finally taken action in regard to the segregation of cheers the Reading shares. Reading, where a big distribution is expected, regarding the programme mapped out by leading bankers. Reading is the gainer by the long drawn out affair. They do not expect a mere increase in dividend. They look for a substantial distribution of Lehigh Coal & Navigation stock, possibly in the form of stock in a holding company.

$ $ $

The Erie board has admitted to its membership Egisto P. Fabbri, a partner of George W. Perkins of Morgan & Co., these two representing the Morgan interests, and R. S. Lovett and L. F. Loree, representing the Harriman interests. President Underwood still excels at the head of the Erie in the matter of being able to report more than its fixed charges now, and its showing for the year promises bright. The road expects to get an entrance into Pittsburg by taking over part of the Wheeling & Lake Erie from the Gould system.

$ $ $

Of more marked importance was the reverse of rumors that the trust would capitalize its Gary plant at $35,000,000 in bonds. As the Gary plant was built entirely out of the earnings, such a proceeding would be entirely proper. Current earnings justify an increased dividend. The expectation of this increase is one reason for the strength of the stock in spite of the refusal to let it be listed on the Paris Bourse.

$ $ $

Expectation of large crops and of the need of increased railroad facilities to handle them are factors that Jay Gould and Wheeler forms the foundation for the sharp rise in American Car & Foundry and American Locomotive, the bulls having the additional argument that the advance in United States Steel had made these stocks look relatively cheap.

American Car & Foundry acts on the whole better than American Locomotive, the first-named having a share that the roads were more in need of freight cars than of engines at the present time.

$ $ $

Talk of a strike by the tin plate employes of the Steel Trust has no effect on the stock market. The men will lose all their rights under the profit-sharing plan should they go out; as there is no question of wage involved, a compromise will undoubtedly be reached quickly.

DULLNESS IN LOCAL STOCKS

STATE STREET, July 1.—Little attention was given to the stock market in early dealings. Transactions were few and far between, although the tone was apparently good. More attention was given to the Harvard-Yale boat race and a great many were absent from the street to attend the races in New London. There was favorable gossip on the street regarding Atlantic & Gulf securities.

Copper statistics at hand show that exports of the metal for June totaled 35,359 tons, the largest for any month this year. On the other hand there was an increase in the foreign visible supply the last half of June of 3,118 tons. An unusual offering on the exchange was a $5,000 lot of Copper Range Se at 98. These bonds are seldom quoted, but it is believed that the last sale was at 98.

In this forenoon's market Amalgamated stiffened slightly in the copper list was professional. Copper Range was steady at 51¾ to 52 and North Butte at 50¼ and 50. U. S. Smelting eased to 49. Slight changes were recorded elsewhere. The July disbursement money had no effect on investment securities. Curb trading was light, but stocks were strong. Davis-Daly rose 3 to 34, and Ohio Copper advanced ½ to 5. Raven mining fell to 28 cents on active trading.

HARRIMAN STOCKS LEAD

By T. C. SHOTWELL.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Harriman shares were the strong feature of the trading in Wall street early to-day, while Interborough-Metropolitan issues showed the effect of speculators' profit taking.

This speculative selling was due to the announcement that the company had a comprehensive plan of subways and might issue a large volume of new securities.

Stocks were not influenced materially by the labor situation in the iron state Alabama. The strike is not expected to restrict production of the Steel Trust, as it has idle mills that will be opened with non-union hands in the event of trouble.

Wabash preferred was heavy. Trading was on a very light scale in all departments of the market. Such crop reports as come to hand showed improving conditions, but the current estimates on cotton crop conditions which point to a reduced yield.

In London American stocks had a narrow range of price fluctuations. Most stocks were unchanged, slight gains or losses. On the New York Curb Lawson sold Cumberland at a high record price of 5¼. Other silver and porphyry copper shares were not materially changed.

BOSTON MAN IN JAIL IN CHICAGO

Samuel Abbott of Newton Centre, a graduate of Williams College, and said to have high social connections in Boston and the Newtons, is under arrest in Chicago on a charge of embezzling $535 in subscriptions to a fake college paper called the University. Dispatches from Chicago to-day say that Abbott has confessed to the police. He worked his game among college graduates. In a printed circular Abbott represented that August Belmont, who is a Harvard graduate, had contributed $100 toward the publication, and that its offices were in the Flatiron Building, New York.

"INHERITANCE TAX CERTAIN"

WASHINGTON, July 1.—When the Payne tariff bill is enacted into law it will not contain the Taft plan to tax on the income of corporations, but it probably will provide for an inheritance tax, a prominent Republican Senator who ranks as a lieutenant to Senator Aldrich said to-day. He added that the corporation tax amendment now before the Senate will be voted into the bill because the President has requested, but when the bill is sent to conference the House inheritance tax will be recommended by the President, will be substituted. This will meet with the approval of the President.

If the senate should vote down the corporation tax amendment it would be considered by the country as a rebuke and a slap at the President, but this action would be an indorsement, just as he would be the substitution in conference of the inheritance tax.

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, JULY 1, 1909

A DEAD HAND AND A LIVE HAND

A Timely Suggestion by the Herald and One by the American That Our People Ought to Think About

Some time ago the Boston Herald gave a good deal of space to a discussion of the question, "What is the matter with Boston?" Our contemporary printed many replies, some good, some bad and all indifferent and unsatisfying.

Yesterday, however, the Herald answered its own question in a very able article, a portion of which the American reproduces in this column.

The Herald's editorial was called forth because of the decision of the courts that the Herald must tear down the arch and facade occupying two feet nine inches of space on the Tremont street frontage of the present Herald building. This arch and facade, it appears, was built in VIOLATION OF A RESTRICTION MADE FIFTY-TWO YEARS AGO BY THE THEN OWNERS OF COLONNADE ROW, as the residential section of Tremont street was known at that time.

The arch and facade the Herald is now destroying, in compliance with the decision of the courts, and which cost several thousand dollars, is not in any way an obstruction. It is A THING OF BEAUTY and VASTLY BETTER than the bare strip of asphalt that will be left to take its place. Originally this two feet nine inches of space was utilized as a grass border and was to remain so forever. But trade swept on. The green grass was shoveled away, and only asphalt and bricks and dirt and dust remained. The arch and facade the Herald erected was handsome and decorative and showed a true spirit of art and business moving along together on proper lines.

Now let the Herald tell the story in its own way—and WE WISH EVERY READER OF THE AMERICAN TO READ WHAT FOLLOWS VERY CAREFULLY AND THEN THINK ABOUT IT, not only to-day, to-morrow and the next day, but for several days to come:

Pursuant to the order of the courts, in response to a plea of parties succeeding to the rights of the original owners of the residential lots on Colonnade Row, the arch must be removed. It having been written fifty-two years ago that the strip of frontage two feet nine inches wide must remain, the decree must be respected.

The plot of green being impossible, the strip of land is to be restored to its nearest approach to nothingness, the bare asphalt.

For such is THE WRITING OF THE DEAD HAND. The mind of the owners of half a century ago conceived an aesthetic service for this piece of land, but the hand wrote less wisely than the conception of the mind. The mind has passed away. The writing of the dead hand remains and is enforced as a mandate of law.

THE DEAD HAND is felt in many places in Boston to-day. The past holds sway over the present. Tradition levies tribute. The GRIP OF THE DEAD IS MISTAKEN FOR CONSERVATISM. Instead of conserving, it paralyzes and withers. Being without life, it is impossible for it to be in sympathetic touch with the living and progressive. Being dead it lacks mentality. Therefore, it cannot appreciate the necessity of change with advance and development. "It is written, therefore it is law," is its logic, and, though generations may have passed and conditions changed so that the original purpose is no longer served by its decree, the courts confess inability to alter the writing.

THE DEAD HAND of tradition has stayed progressive legislation. In the name of conservatism it has been raised in protest against inevitable changes in public opinion. It has caused Boston to hesitate while other cities have gone forward. The traditions of Boston are sacred. The wisdom of other generations is not to be ignored. Conservatism is not without its value. The touch of the past may still serve as a guide for the future.

BUT THE HAND THAT DIRECTS BOSTON TO SUCCESS MUST BE A LIVING HAND. IT MUST BE GUIDED BY A LIVING MIND.

But there is a LIVE HAND in Boston, as well as a dead hand—and the LIVE HAND is steering the great municipal ship into a perfect harbor of safety. The LIVE HAND is the Chamber of Commerce, backed by the more recent 1915 movement, sailing along on sunlit seas, welcoming every honest endeavor to make Boston BIGGER, BETTER AND GREATER than it has ever been before.

Let us not think too much of the dead past, nor of dead or dying conditions. BOSTON IS ALL RIGHT!

It can be made better, and it will be made bigger and better. Trade and commerce are growing. Our educational institutions are the finest in the world. Our churches are growing in power and influence. Our municipal government is not perfect, but it might be worse—much worse. Our business men are keen and alert. Our financial institutions are sound and carefully managed. All's well with Boston!

The true citizen is not downcast or DISSATISFIED. He is only UNSATISFIED, and in the end Boston WILL BE MADE the finest city in the world!

Those Who Seek Cleopatras

The tragedy of "Lame Bob" Eastman and beautiful Mrs. Woodill in Maryland is an example of the ancient truth.

Both paid the price of their sin, and the old axiom that truth is stranger than fiction is exemplified.

There was rarely a more tragic story. A girl of mysterious parentage, adopted by a street car conductor, ripened into beauty and became the protege of a Cabinet minister. She was welcomed at the White House. She sang for a President's guests. She rode in the carriage of a President's wife. She basked in the favor of the kindly and impeccable Mrs. McKinley.

She was married and divorced, then wooed and won almost in a day. And in the flush of youth and radiant charm she went to a lonely bungalow on the banks of a Maryland river, and was there brutally slain by a lover more than old enough to be her father! Weighted with a kettle filled with bricks, her body was sunk in lonely waters. But the waters rejected the gruesome secret. And in a boat, confronted by a sheriff's posse, the man shot out his misspent life.

Both dead! To both were meted out the awful wages of their sin!

Those who seek the fascination of sin are likely to pay for it with their lives or that which is worth more than life. The worst of men expect women who are false to others to be true to them. Suddenly discovering that the woman to whom he has given his guilty confidence and conscience is without faith, even to her guilty love, the man is [illegible] to fury. He is a murderer! And he falls upon his sword.

Every man, to be a good man, needs to have a good woman. And THE LOVE OF A GOOD WOMAN IS THE YEARNING TO BE THE FATHER OF HER HUSBAND'S CHILDREN.

[illegible] and loyal women and wife who is a joy all her days—a [illegible] tortuous steps—a support for the psychic life—is THE [illegible] women who won't be mothers cannot be depended upon. [illegible] and which blows where it listeth.

[illegible] MEN who are thus punished for their own sins [illegible] PONSIBLE. Seeking sin, they find it, and, in [illegible]

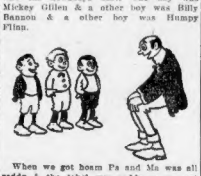
Little Bobbie's Pa

By William F. Kirk

YESTERDAY was my birthdy & Ma sed to me wen I had my breekfast, Bobbie, I am going to give you a birthdayy lunch to-day. I want you to go & ask three (3) of yure best littel boy friends here to lunch.

So I went down town & got three (3) of my friends. They was all newsboys, I know lots of boys at school, but I like the newsboys best. One boy was Mickey Gillen & a other boy was Billy Bannon & a other boy was Humpy Flinn.



When we got hoam Pa and Ma was all reddy & the tabel was reddy so we sat down.

I am glad to meet you boys, sed Pa. I am very fond of boys, Pa sed, beekaus in every boy there lurks the germs of grate-ness. For instens, Pa sed, any one (1) of you young-sters setting here to-day at this birthday luncheon which we are giving for our littel son Bobbie is libble to be President of this country sum day. Deant you understand what I mean? sed Pa to Humpy Flinn.

Nix on the barking, sed Humpy Flinn, lead us to the eats.

Jest a minute, boys, sed Pa. I feel that it is my duty, sed Pa, to in-culkate a few principels in you beefore we go on with this littel lunch. Every boy has it in him to be grate, sed Pa, jest as every acorn is libble to be a mitey oak. Glancing back oaver the pages of history, we find the naims of such grate men as Napolyun & Julius Ceesar. They was boys like you cunt, sed Pa.

Give me sumthing to put on my knife, sed Mickey Gillen. I am so hungry that I cud eat out of a rag peddler's hand. Come across with the poul-tice, sed Mickey.

One mouent, boys, said Pa. I want to tell you how much we appre-shiate you being here. For the present, Pa sed, you must drink & eat only with yure eyes, as the grate Johnson sed. Johnson aint grate at all, sed Billy Bannon. He is a cheap smoke. Jeff cud lick him in a punch. Slip sumthing in from the kitching, sed Billy.

Then Ma calm in with all the lunch, we had soup & fish & cold beef & lettce salad & ice cream. Then we all beegan to eat but Pa got up & sed One moment, boys. Let us drink a toast, in pure, coold water, to my littel son Bobbie, & let us hoap that he may live to a ripe old age.

Then all the boys drank sum water except Humpy Flinn; he drank his soup instead beecaus he was hungry.

Now, boys, sed Pa, jest one word moar & I am finished. True manhood is within the reach of all, no matter how lowering may be the clouds of fail-ure. No matter how stormly the waves of ad-versity may beat on the shoar of the heart, no matter how many rebuffs may cum, no matter how cruis is Fate, true manhood is within the reach of all!

No it aint, sed Billy Bannon.

My dear boy, sed Pa, who is the person you have in mind?

My sister, sed Billy Bannon. Now kick in with the food, sed Billy. I have drank all my soup, Billy sed, & now I want to be staked to sumthing thick. That's the kind of talk, sed Mickey Gillen. Come along with the fodder. My mother was a lady, sed Mickey Gillen, & she never kept me waiting for my grub.

Then we had our lunch & Pa started to tell the boys about the time he used to be a grate ball player. In fact so'd Humpy Flinn. You must have been a outfielder, sed Humpy. Yure feet is too fat for speed. How much did you hit the last year you was in the league, sed Humpy. I was always a good & conscientius player, sed Pa. Pa was beginning to git mad. Ma was laffing at him & the moar ma laffed the madder Pa got.

Bobbie, sed Billy Bannon, if yure old man was manager of the Dorex for one year I no we'd git the Iran-chize. He is a good-hearted old scout, Billy sed, but he ain't no athlete.

Then all the boys shook hands with Ma and tosld her they luved her. But thay dident shake hands with Pa. They toald me Pa talked too much. Ma asked the boys to cum aggess & they sed they wud cum with me sum day wen Daniel Webster wasent hoam. Newsboys is awful wise.
